THE LOW DOWN HICKORY GROVE

I see where the boys down at Hot Springs, there in the old Sore-back state, are putting on the dog. Are they exclusive? Pardonner! They are living high—and unbothered. No common person can barge in and listen or get any idea of what is cooking. A common person, he is to keep his distance—just so he don't get beyond
the tax collector's jurisdiction.

Somebody has to pay for the affair. And you take just liquor—our U. S. A. State Dept., the paper says, asked Virginia to lift the lid and let in another 2400 bottles. Every person attending had already been permitted to bring in four quarts on the hip.
The affair is billed as a "food conference." She looks like somebody slipped and misnamed the meeting. But it is our own U. S.
A. Govt. putting on the show.
Sambo is sure showing off. Old Belshazzar couldn't have done better.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

SERVICE MEN ENJOY WAFFLE SUPPER

Last Friday evening's waffle supper and entertainment following was one of the most enjoyable parties yet seen at the Ashland USO, according to Mrs. Ben Willard, senior hostess of the day.
Forty-four persons enjoyed the hospitality of the Ashland Royal Neighbors who are sponsoring the Friday evening waffle suppers during the month of June. Ladies who served the supper last week were Mesdames Carl Dalkenburg, Sid Reed, Eria Edwards, and Jim Calahan.

Following the supper, guests played at pingpong and jigsaw puzzles, danced, or wrote letters.
Next Friday the Royal Neighbors will again be hosts to service men visiting the Ashland USO that evening.

You Don't Have to Stand in Line . . .

To Buy ELECTRIC POWER

THAT'S TRUE, even though the electric light and power industry in America was called on to produce, in 1942, the greatest amount of electric power in history—189 billion kilowatt-hours!

And at the same time the average cost per kilowatt-hour to the consumer was lower than ever before!

Not only were all the demands of war plants, military camps, naval stations, and arsenals met—but there remained 27 billion kilowatt-hours of electrical energy to take care of the needs of shops and stores, 30 billion for homes, 13 billion for public transportation, street lighting, and other uses.

These are some of the accomplishments of the electric light and power industry and of the electrical manufacturers who build the equipment used to generate, distribute, and utilize electricity—working together with the teamwork so typically American.

How We Helped

POWER GENERATION. More than one half of all the electric power generated by electric light and power companies in the U. S. is produced by generators manufactured by General Electric.

And such has been the improvement in the efficiencies of turbine-driven generators that if the electric power used in 1942 had been produced with the machines of 1924, it would have required more than a million extra cars of coal and one hundred and forty thousand men just to mine and haul this extra coal.

POWER DISTRIBUTION. To have ample power available wherever new war plants have sprung up requires large and highly efficient transforming and switching equipment and the solution of highly intricate engineering problems. General Electric has had a hand, and a head, in the development and manufacture of much of this equipment.

POWER UTILIZATION. Building machines, lamps, and appliances that put electricity to work more efficiently in factories and homes is one of our most important jobs.
The United States has more of these electrical helpers than any other nation. In 1942, the average home used twice as much electricity as in 1930, and in those 12 years the average price per kilowatt-hour decreased 40%.

This is only a small part of the story of America's electrical industry. When the full story becomes history with the passing of the years, it will reveal a group of men who, with a determination which now seems providential, kept on—co-operatively developing new and better equipment, increasing generating capacity, lowering costs, expanding service, planning always to be ready for the demands of the future. It will be a story of remarkable vision and courage—for it all had to be planned, and the work started, years ahead of the need.

The next time you meet a man from your electric service company, be he the local manager, or meter reader, or spurred lineman carrying out his assignment in rain, sleet, or heavy winds, give him a word of encouragement—for he is the man who is making it unnecessary for you to stand in line for electric power. General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
