

OLD BEESWAX WANTED FOR WAR PURPOSES

Old beeswax, regardless of condition, is badly needed by the government for war purposes and will be paid for at prices that will pay any present or former beekeeper to clean out all old hives or other sources of the wax, according to a call issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Any dealer in beekeeping supplies will buy this old wax at 41½ cents a pound cash.

BASEBALL QUIZ TRAPS SPIES

This story comes from the African fighting front. An American infantryman in the thick of battle happened to spy two paratroopers wearing American uniforms landing behind Allied lines.

SECRETARY KNOX GIVES MUCH PRAISE TO SEABEES

Much of the credit for the United Nations' gain against the Axis is due to the miraculous achievements of the U. S. Navy's construction battalions (Seabees), according to a recent statement by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. These are the men who build advance bases beyond the continental limits of the United States and who defend these vital installations.

IT IS OUR TASK

By Ruth Taylor

We who have boasted like the Pharisee of old—"I thank Thee, Lord, that I am not as other men," have had a rude awakening in the mob attacks and riots that have sprung up like poison weeds in various parts of the country.

Under the new schedule opening of freshman week will be postponed to October 5, with registration of old students October 9. Winter term registration will be January 11 and spring term April 11. The change will also permit students to work longer in harvests this fall before returning to college.

But, as the Allies extend their gains in enemy territory, the greater becomes the need for additional men for the Seabees. Right now the situation is critical, according to Recruiting Specialist H. W. Crain of the Medford Navy Recruiting Station. Thousands of skilled workers are needed immediately for duty in the combat areas.

Mechanics, carpenters, machinists, draftsmen, electricians, riggers powermen, pipe-fitters and plumbers, welders, wharf builders and concrete workers are a few of the skilled workmen so greatly in demand. Any man with experience in one of these trades can qualify for a petty officer rating in the Seabees, Recruiting Officer Crain reports, and is asked to go to the Navy Recruiting Station without delay for a preliminary interview.

All men between 17 and 50½ can enlist in the Seabees. Those in the draft group—18 to 38—who have not been called for induction, may volunteer for induction. Details of this procedure may be obtained from the Navy recruiter. However, it is emphasized that draft-age applicants must be able to qualify for skilled trade ratings. The quota for 15-year-olds and those over 38 is unlimited in both skilled and unskilled ratings.

Specialist Crain stresses the fact that application at the Navy Recruiting Station does not affect a man's present draft status. He is not obligated in any way until he is cleared for voluntary induction by his draft board.

REGIMENTATION and BUREAUCRACY Vs. FREEDOM and INDUSTRIAL INITIATIVE

There was big news just a few weeks back—news of one of the most devastating raids ever carried out by the gallant RAF against Germany.

You remember it, sure. The giant Moehne dam and the great Eder dam blasted and breached by explosive mines, laid by low-flying British planes.

It was a staggering blow. The country for miles around was flooded. But more than that—and here's the main point—the raid crippled the electric power output of many a Nazi generating station. Aircraft and locomotive factories ceased to function. For when a power station is blitzed, it's like cutting a main artery. Machines stand idle, assembly lines stop.

But bombing aside, there's a big—and fundamental—difference between the way power is produced in Germany and America!

In Germany, electric power is produced under the same totalitarian system of bureaucracy that runs everything—that tells you what to do, what to say, what to think.

In America, electric power is produced under the traditions of free business opportunity and individual initiative, where men, working in freedom, can put into practice the rules of common-sense business management.

There you have it: Regimentation and bureaucracy, versus freedom and individual initiative.

How do you suppose these two opposite systems work out?

Today, America produces far more electric power than all the Axis countries combined! But do not waste electricity because it is not rationed.

FREEDOM to us in this country is our greatest heritage—its preservation is our gravest responsibility.

SPEAKER FROM BURMA

Mrs. Victoria Crow of Grants Pass spoke last week at an assembly of students in the Southern Oregon College of Education on the subject of Burma, where she was stationed seven years as teacher in mission work under the British regime. She discussed the Burmese standard of living, their customs and language, and interpreted their attitude toward the Japanese.

Mrs. Crow, a graduate of the University of Oregon, is a student this summer in the education department of the Southern Oregon College.
