FREEDOM OF RELIGION

By Ruth Taylor

Which of the Four Freedoms means the most to you?
Freedom of Religion is to most people the greatest freedom because without it the others are valueless.
Freedom of Religion is not just the privilege to go to the church of one's choice, to bring one's children up in the teachings of one's fathers. It is the only true freedom of the spirit, because when freedom of religion is taken away the mind is fettered.
All real freedoms stem from freedom of mind, from freedom of faith. Without freedom of religion there is no liberty. The shackles of one master have simply been exchanged for those of another.
Freedom of one religion means freedom of all religions. If we enjoy freedom of religions, we must respect the religious beliefs of others who do not share our faith.
True religion, by whatever creed it acclaims itself, knows no barriers of nationality, race or class. Its covenant is the brotherhood of all mankind. If a man hates another because of his creed he is denying the fundamental faith of all monotheistic religions, that all men are the sons of God.
We can respect another's religion without losing our own distinctive faith. As Father Ross so aptly said, "In all things religious we Protestants, Catholics, Jews, can be as separated as the fingers of a man's outstretched hand. In all things civic and American we can be as united as a man's clenched fist." We may differ in the path we may take to God, we may be strong in our belief in the rightness of our way—but we will see to it that our neighbor has the same right to choose his path that we have to choose ours.
Freedom of religion is more than freedom of ritual. We are all of us children of one Father and we have a duty toward our brothers. We share a common faith in God—let us put that faith into action by bringing to our fellow men justice and righteousness, freedom and security, an equal opportunity and an equal chance. Only in this way can we keep our souls as well as our bodies free, and ensure the permanence of our freedom.

Greyhound Buses Conserve Tires

Intercity busses carrying more than one-half of the total number of passengers traveling between cities use only 6 per cent of the crude rubber, and only two and one-half per cent of the motor fuel consumed by all commercial vehicles, according to F. W. Ackerman, vice president of Pacific Greyhound Lines, in quoting from a comprehensive study of wartime transportation problems recently made by the National Association of Motor Bus Operators.
Continuing, Mr. Ackerman stated, "Bus operators have been pioneers in rubber conservation, and the intercity bus lines average better than 40,000 miles per tire, with many tires giving 75,000 miles of wear. Even with this large mileage, when replaced for safety reasons, each bus tire still has enough rubber which can be reclaimed to make several passenger car tires."
Mrs. Jack Enders and daughter of Texas are visiting relatives in this vicinity.

G.A.A. INITIATES MANY ANNUALS TO AHS

On Tuesday October 20, the students of Ashland high saw many strange looking people wandering around the halls. They were the G. A. A. initiates. With their hair done up in thirteen pigtails, and clothes on wrong side out and backward, and wearing only one shoe, the girls made a very amusing group.
After school the girls were put through various activities, and then were admitted as official members of G.A.A. The initiation was concluded with a kangaroo court, presided over by President Armita Black, and by a dinner.
"Do you have cold feet? buy a hot dog," are the words you have heard spoken from the concession booth, at the Lakeview, Eureka football games. The money that was made will be spent on a chicken dinner and several other activities later on in the year.
The Oregon Historical Society has selected "The Oregon Trail" as the subject for the 1944 C. C. Beckman essay contest. Those attending school here last year will remember that Mary Pat Rawe received the first prize in the contest last year.

THE WAVES DEPEND ON GREYHOUND

Greyhound serves the WAVES with vital transportation to and from the many bases where they are on duty. In addition, a large proportion of other service men and women travel by bus to training centers, embarkation points and on leave, and many buses are used exclusively to serve military camps. This diverts buses from civilian service; however, we are making every effort to take care of the traveling public under these difficult conditions, and greatly appreciate your cooperation.
