WE, TOO, NEED RE-EDUCATION

By Ruth Taylor

We have talked much of the importance of re-educating the people of Germany away from the ideas and ideologies of Nazism which have been so well drilled into them by their despotic overlords, and most people agree that this is the only way that problem will ever be completely solved.

But we too need re-education. Technical re-education alone is not meant - though we could do with a thorough overhauling job on that. What is needed most is a re-education of our way of thought. We need not merely enough education so as not to have to look up to anyone, but also enough not to look down on anyone.

We need re-education in responsibility. We must accept our full share of the work not merely of the world, but of our own government, national, state, or local. We need more cooperators and fewer coasters on the work of others. (If you have ever tried to name working committees for even a small club, you know what I mean.)

We need re-education in justice. We cannot expect to build a world of the Four Freedoms until we have ingrained in all of our people the ideal of absolute justice for all - those with whom we do not agree as well as to those with whom we see eye to eye.

We need re-education in kindness. We need to teach those who will follow after us, that prejudice is ignorance, that bias and group hatreds are ignoble, that the spirit of brotherhood is not just something we learn on Sunday and put away with our best gloves for another week. We have to relearn that the Golden Rule is still the most practical law of life.

We need re-education in speech. We need to learn how not to talk as well as how to talk. We need to make careless rumor mongering, unkind generalization and carping criticism of our neighbors' motives or religious beliefs a social solacism equal to eating peas with a knife.

We need re-education in citizenship. We need to express in our lives, the idealism that is the American way of life. We need a re-dedication to the principles that made and preserved us a nation. And we must remember that self-government of a people collectively depends upon self government of the people individually.

Re-education is the only way left open to the world for which we have sacrificed the best of our youth. It is the only way we can be sure that this senseless sacrifice may not be made in each generation to come. Re-education is the only solution to the problem of the world today.

Christmas Salute to Fighting Yanks

Bing Crosby and Bob Hope will trade quips during the two-hour Elgin-sponsored Christmas Day variety program for servicemen abroad and their families.

Carmen Miranda, the Brazilian Bombshell, will be on hand to sing her native songs and entertain with her inimitable brand of humor.

Judy Garland will add her lilt-ing notes to the musical portion of the show.

The cast for the two-hour potpourri of song, drama and comedy, to be broadcast Dec. 25 from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. (PWT) over the Columbia network, reads like a veritable "Who's Who" of Broadway and Hollywood. Besides the above talent, the show will feature Robert Young, basso Adia Kuznetzoff, Cass Daley, the Revuers, the Charioteers, Ken Carpenter, Henry Busse, Jack Benny and Lena Horne. And more will be added.

SCHOOL GIRL REQUESTS

For the second time General Electric has been nonplused by a request from a school girl. A few years ago a little girl wrote G. E. asking for "a sample of electricity." Last week this request was received: "Will you please send me one picture of the war?"

Feeling the subject rather broad to cover in one picture, the company sent the little lady several illustrated booklets on its wartime activities.

The lens of the eye continues to grow in size throughout life, says the Better Vision Institute.

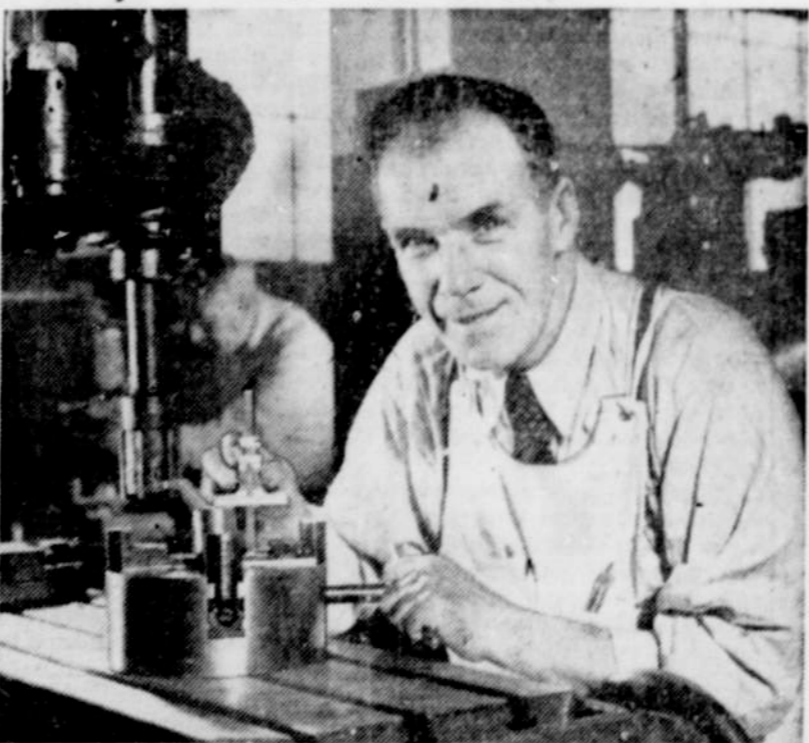

THE FIRST COMMANDOS

With the spearhead of our invasion forces in North Africa and Sicily was the smoke-screen generator, whose development was completed by G-E scientists.

"Smoke is our greatest protective weapon," said Maj. Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the Army Chemical Warfare Service. "It is the greatest life-saver of our troops, and was responsible for the small number of casualties in Sicily, where it was used."

Though dense enough to conceal completely the movements of the troops, the smoke causes no discomfort to the men.

Back to Work

Many war workers who have had tuberculosis are back to normal living and vital jobs. Christmas Seals finance extensive rehabilitation programs for tuberculous patients.

G'S GO FOR WAFFLES

Friday's waffle supper at the Ashland USO was served to 55 guests. Hostesses appeared to feel an unusual amount of satisfaction over the result of their evening's hospitality. "It was fun," remarked one hostess, "for the men were really hungry. A number came back for second and third servings."

Members of the PEO who served last Friday were Miss Louise Woodruff, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. La Bounty, Mrs. Dom Provost, Mrs. Charles Fortmiller. They were assisted by the senior hostesses of the hour, Mrs. Roy Frazier and Mrs. Bert Freeman.

Miss Ninon King was home from college a few days this week visiting her mother, Mrs. Ruth King. She was on the staff of the Rogue News last year and was also the editor of the year book of AHS.

Report Violations of Rent Regulations

Rent regulations are violated when landlords raise rents without clearing through the Rent Section of the War Price and Rationing Board. Cases where the landlord is charging more than the registered rate are continually encountered. While the landlord may have one or more of the eight grounds under the Federal Rent Regulations, he has failed to petition for an order adjusting the rent. In such cases refunds to tenants are in order. These refunds may be a substantial amount when the condition has been going on for some time. Contemplated changes in rent, whether involving amount or decrease in service, should always be initiated by petition. No higher rent shall be charged until an order is issued by the Rent Director.

A report of change in tenancy is also required. This form is not a petition for rent adjustment but
