BOYS NEEDED IN NAVY AVIATION

A five-fold boost in quotas for naval aviation cadets has increased opportunities for many more young men to obtain the U. S. Navy's famed $27,000 aviation education, today reported the Portland branch, Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 330 American Bank Building, Portland, which handles applications in Oregon.

Naval flight training is now open to 18-year-old high school as well as 17-year-old boys, provided they are currently enrolled in high school in their last semester or are high school graduates. Eighteen-year-olds apply to the U. S. Navy first and if qualified they may volunteer through selective service for induction in V-5, the Navy's flight training classification. Seventeen-year-old boys may enlist direct in V-5.

Because the flight training is rated the most thorough and the longest in the world, only boys in good physical condition are eligible.

Boys accepted probably will not be sent to school before four months. Any young man who is not found acceptable does not go into any other branch of the Navy unless he desires to enlist. Cadets enlisted before they finish high school must graduate before they can go on active duty.

Cadets receive eight months' training at a college handling the Navy's V-12 program, followed by 15 months' flight training. After completing this they are commissioned ensigns in the United States Naval Reserve.

Applications may be made in this area by mail or in person to the Portland branch, Office of Naval Procurement, 330 American Bank Building, Portland. Boys being given serious consideration will have their travel paid to Portland and home again so

Maj. Gregory Boyington, Marine Corps fighter pilot from Okanogan, Wash., who was reported missing after shooting down his 26th Japanese plane in a raid over Rabaul January 3 to tie the record set by Maj. Joe Foss, another Marine, in this war, and Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker of the Army, in World War I.

PASTRY

Don't stretch or pull dough when fitting it into a piepan, or it will shrink in baking, warns Mrs. Julia Kiene, director of Westinghouse Home Economics Institute. This is what she advises: Lay dough on greased piepan and ease gently into seams so that it makes a snug fit. Pat lightly all over to eliminate air pockets. Allow an extra half inch for top-crust pies to tuck under, and an extra one inch for shells to be baked without filling.

that they can be interviewed, given physical examinations and aptitude tests.
