"Past Is Prologue"

A Thought on the Old Year
By Ruth Taylor

"What Is Past Is Prologue" is carved in the enduring stone of that great marble building which houses the archives of the United States.

"Past is Prologue." The dictators whose insane lust for power laid waste one continent and whose mad dreams reached across oceans to engulf us should have paused at these words and considered their meaning—before the onslaught of our aroused armies swept them into oblivion.

"Past is Prologue." What is our past but a struggle for freedom for all oppressed and disheartened people—religious freedom, political freedom, economic freedom? The founding fathers, beloved of every patriotic orator, incorporated this urge for freedom in the classic phrases of the preamble to the Constitution and in the Bill of Rights, which is the Magna Charta of our freedom.

"Past is Prologue." The past is useful in determining what the future shall be. With the past this nation possesses we could not have turned aside from the cries for help rising from the victims of the new oppression, those helpless people whose only fault was that their ways were the ways of peace, and that they had possessions the gangster overlords of Europe and Asia coveted. With our past record we could not have turned away like the Pharisee from the wounded traveler. For us—with our heritage of action for freedom—binding up the injured as did the Good Samaritan was not enough. The fight was ours. The task was plain. We had to help drive the robbers from the Jericho Road.

"Past is Prologue." But the past is fulfilled only as the desire for a better future which it had inculcated into our hearts and minds bears fruit. The past is but the prologue to the future—and we must make the future better.

"Past is Prologue." To keep the promise of the past we must stand firm now and fight to preserve the right. We must not compromise with evil. We must put into practice the truth by which we hold sovereignty over this nation: "That all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The task is great, but the past has trained us for the needs of the present. We CAN and WILL do all that is demanded of us in the new year ahead.

Court Okeys Oregon Freight Right Grant

Circuit Judge George R. Duncan Friday sustained Public Utilities Commissioner George H. Flagg in granting the Oregon-Nevada-California Freight Lines the right to operate between Ashland and Portland.

Judge Duncan held it was in the public interest to let the company, which has headquarters in San Francisco, operate in Oregon. Flagg predicted that the order would end a controversy in which freight operators have sought to prevent competition in the field.

Report of Traffic Accidents Released

Oregon traffic accidents claimed a toll of 222 lives, and 4850 persons injured during the year 1943. There were 30,750 accidents during the year. These figures are subject to revision in view of possible late reports, Farrell said.

The 1943 pedestrian toll was considerably higher than in 1942. Pedestrian fatalities totaled 80, an increase of 21 per cent over the toll of 66 in 1942.

The fatality toll of 222 lives lost in 1943 was a decrease of 18 per cent from the death toll of 273 lives in 1942. Injuries showed a 5 per cent decrease from the previous year when 5141 persons were injured.

Total accidents dropped 18 per cent. There were 37,930 in 1942. Of the 222 persons killed in accidents, 150 or 70 per cent died in accidents that occurred in rural areas. Last year rural accidents accounted for 65 per cent of the total fatalities.

"The traffic toll constitutes a tragic blow at the war effort of this state," Farrell said, in commenting on the accident experience for 1943. "Accidents strike at two important factors in the war economy of the nation, transportation and manpower. By avoiding accidents—and most of them can be avoided through the
