ON MINORITIES

By Ruth Taylor

A lot of thoughtless people are asking today, "Why all this clamor for rights? Don't minority groups know when they are well off?"

But—have you noticed how many of the people who say that, are those who have never met with discrimination? They have never moved outside of their own particular orbit, but the barrier that has kept them back has not been that of "restriction" or "discrimination." Instead it has been lack of money or desire that restrained them. As individuals they knew they were acceptable anywhere.

Before you condemn minority pleadings, just think how you would feel if you weren't wanted—not AFTER having had a chance to prove your worth, but before and regardless!

Remember that America was founded by men and women who were annoyed by restrictions—on jobs, in lands where trades descended from father to son; on religion, where no man could hold office who did not adhere to the creed of the State; on speech, where the secret police dogged the steps of those who thought for themselves—and so on. All of us who are "native born of native born" are descended from those who objected to restrictions. Can we, therefore, be anything but patient and understanding of those who are trying to achieve what we have been born to—equal treatment as equals, the rights of being judged as individuals, not labeled as a minority and held outside the common life?

These minorities want to belong. They want the same rights we possess—the right to work and be useful, the right to economic security, the right to freedom from want for their families, and, most important of all, the right to participate on equal terms in our common life. Perhaps these minorities don't all think as we do, nor act as we would act—but have we given them the opportunity to learn our way of thought, our way of life?

There is no such thing as equality of possession—but there must be equality of opportunity. We can provide the education, tradition and background to give every one a chance if he has what it takes. As the stronger it is up to us—but we must do it by understanding and friendliness—not by restrictions or discrimination.

To the People of this Community

YOU ARE IMPORTANT

There is no such thing as a "little" investment in the Fourth War Loan.

Your $25 or $50 or $100 Extra War Bond may not have great importance in your mind in making up a $3 1/2 billion dollar total for individuals.

But multiply yourself by 130,000,000 and then you see in real perspective how truly great each citizen becomes in massing national strength against the Nazis and the Japs.

Capt. Maurice Witherspoon, Navy chaplain aboard the Carrier Wasp when she sank, tells of a rescued wounded sailor, who, as he regained consciousness, asked: "Did I do my best?"

That's the only question you, too, have to ask yourself when you decide the extent of your personal participation in the Fourth War Loan.

There undoubtedly will be large single purchases of War Bonds in this community, but yours—if it is "your best" will deserve equally the red, white and blue shield you are privileged to display in the window of your home.

So "Let's All Back the Attack." THE EDITOR.

Measure your sacrifice. Are your burdens really heavier than those borne by boys from this community now fighting in far away foxholes? Let's all back the attack.

JAMES L. KRAFT RECEIVES AWARD

One thousand Protestant church leaders throughout the country have selected James L. Kraft, Chicago industrialist, as the winner of the first national Russell Colgate Distinguished Service Citation for his "outstanding contributions to the advancement of Christian education through personal leadership and influence."

The award was made by the International Council of Religious Education at a fellowship luncheon in the Stevens Hotel here, February 8, during the 22nd annual meeting of the Council, it has been announced by Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary. As a memorial for the late Russell Colgate, president of the International Council until his death in 1941, the citation consists of a hand-lettered certificate and a medal, which was presented to Mr. Kraft by Dr. Arlo Ayres Brown of Madison, N. J., chairman of the Council.

"The selection of Mr. Kraft for this honor is a distinct recognition of his personal leadership for many years in Christian education," Dr. Ross declared in making the announcement. "Religious educators of the United States and Canada know Mr. Kraft as an untiring worker in Christian education and as a staunch lay friend."

Rolling Posters Boost Bond Drive

As the U. S. Treasury launches another nation-wide drive to increase the sale of War Bonds, the outdoor poster facilities of the nation have been mobilized in a mighty effort to keep the campaign constantly before the eyes of the American public.

That effective slogan "Back the Attack!" has been followed by another "punch line": "Let 'Em Have It—With Extra Bonds!"

This, with a picture of an American trooper in the act of tossing a grenade, is the message of a striking new poster designed by Douglas Leigh, famous poster expert, now being displayed on the 15,000 trucks of Railway Express Agency throughout the country.

Mr and Mrs. C. S. Butchart of Dallas, Oregon spent the week end with the former's parents. Mr. and Mrs. James Yeo, Mr. Yeo is improving from his recent illness.

Goebbels called our Flying Fortresses "Flying Coffins." We need more of them over Germany. Let's All Back the Attack: Buy More War Bonds.

LINCOLN was Not wrong!

"FREEDOM . . . shall not perish from the earth."
Today all over the earth, our men are fighting for freedom. They are depending upon us here at home to keep it strong and alive for their return. Our free enterprise system makes possible all freedoms. Let's keep them.
