

Greyhound Pays Tribute to Schools

"Can you picture Ashland without schools?" asks Pacific Greyhound Lines in their current advertisement in this newspaper, and they continue with a tribute to the educational set-up of our community - teachers, school boards and school executives.

Greyhound points out the vital importance of our educational facilities and draws a parallel to bus transportation which is also important to our progress and which is used extensively by the schools themselves.

"Shakespeare wrote of a school boy with shining face, creeping like a small unwillingly to school," quoted F. W. Ackerman, Vice President of Pacific Greyhound Lines, "but the modern student traveling swiftly to school by motor bus hardly fits that picture."

The bus executive, in stating that Greyhound is making extensive plans for finer and better bus service after the war, pointed out that Greyhound does not want the public to forget the peacetime pleasures of highway travel, and for that reason they have continued their newspaper advertising during the war. Instead of promoting travel, however, their advertising has been directed to helping the armed forces in recruiting campaigns and to feature vital elements in community life, such as this advertisement on schools.

The Greyhound school advertisement is another of this series and many readers of this newspaper will remember the question asked in the preceding Greyhound message, "Can you picture Ashland without Newspapers?"

COUNCIL APPROVES EDITORS, MANAGERS

For the first time, this year the executive publication offices have been filled and appointed in the spring instead of the fall. Heading the Rogue News staff for next year will be Marguerite Grunewald as editor and Betty Hollingsworth as business manager.

Marie Hill, co-editor this year, will assume the duties as editor on the annual, and heading the business end will be Arthur Phillips. Assistants have not yet been appointed, but there are several students under consideration. (From the Rogue News)

Quill and Scroll Elects Officers

An election of Quill and Scroll officers for next year was held Wednesday, May 10. Those elected into office were: Marjorie Lutz, president; Pauline Ulstad, vice-president; and Emily Norris, secretary.

New requirements have been set up for membership. A sketch of these may be obtained from Emily Norris.

The following students have passed these requirements and were voted upon by the members to be initiated next year: Betty Hollingsworth, Arthur Phillips, Tommy Newton, Lillian McDonough, Shirley Wilcox, Jean Harden, and Rosalie Stauffer. (From the Rogue News)

Smashing the Tin-Can Bogey

It's perfectly safe to leave unused food in tin cans in the refrigerator. Contrary to the popular belief, the metals used in commercial canning are carefully selected for safety, says Mrs. Julia Klene, director of the Westinghouse Home Economics Institute. However, it is important to cover the can and refrigerate it promptly because air destroys certain vitamins, and room temperature encourages spoilage.

Railroads Must Have Workers to Meet Draft Loss

Facing new manpower losses to the armed forces, an urgent appeal for thousands of additional workers to help the railroads keep the Victory trains rolling, and to avoid delays in busy rail yards and shops, was made by L. B. McDonald, vice president in charge of operations for Southern Pacific.

New draft rules, calling up all able bodied men under 20, threaten to cancel the deferments of hundreds of Southern Pacific workmen in skilled crafts, McDonald said, including firemen, brakemen, boiler makers, machinists, blacksmiths, carmen, signalmen and members of other important crafts.

Southern Pacific as a whole, now has nearly 15,000 former employees in the armed services and the railroad's worker shortage now stands at 8600. Thousands of jobs for skilled and unskilled men and women are open on the Pacific Coast railroad front. Southern Pacific alone, it was pointed out, has employed more than 4000 women on jobs formerly performed exclusively by men.
