

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clause of Medford were Ashland callers Tuesday. Mr. Clause is a member of the Medford police force and was for several years chief of police at Ashland. They have a wide circle of acquaintances here.

Visitors at the Frank Thompson home last week end were Mrs. Frank C. Thompson and three children. The Thompson home in Klamath Falls was recently sold. Mrs. Thompson and children had been visiting in Central Point with her parents. The family left later in the week to go to Phoenix, Arizona where Mr. Thompson is working with a reclamation crew. While at Klamath Falls he was reclamation hydrographer, but with the transfer to Phoenix, he received a promotion and is now project planning manager. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson well known Ashland residents. The elder Thompson is a retired reclamation engineer.

Homer Walker of Talent was a business caller in Ashland Tuesday.

T/Sgt. Wayne F. Sikes and Miss Margaret Angela Johnson were married in the Knox Presbyterian Church at Berkeley, California, on Sept. 24, according to word received here. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marion, and her sister in law, Mrs. Mary Belle Johnson. Miss Susan Sikes and her mother, Mrs. Grace Sikes, attended the wedding. T/Sgt. and Mrs. Sikes spent their honeymoon in Oregon and visited the groom's mother and other relatives and friends, returning to his base at Oxnard, California, October 3.

Local Wave Assigned to First Duty Station

Miss Florence Ada Wood, Seaman Second class in the WAVES has just been assigned to her first active duty station, Office of Chief of Naval Operations Washington, D. C., yesterday reported Recruiting Specialists Herbert W. Crain, Recruiter in charge of the Medford U. S. Navy Recruiting Substation which handles WAVES applications in the Ashland area.

Seaman Wood is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Wood, 520 Mt. Avenue Ashland. Seaman Wood has just completed basic training and indoctrination at the U.S.S. Hunter, U.S. Naval Training school for WAVES, New York City. While there she learned the Navy job she will handle in releasing a trained Navy man for sea duty or for service at an advanced base. Her training will be continued at her new active duty station.

Previous to enlisting in the WAVES Seaman Wood was employed by the Metz store. She is a graduate of Ashland High School and Southern Oregon College of Education.

Seaman Wood is now wearing the uniform of the armed services along with her brother who is an Army air corp cadet.

WCS Met at Church on Friday

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church held its regular meeting in the social rooms of the church on Friday Oct. 6th. The morning was taken up with the business of the society.

Luncheon was served by a group of the members under the direction of the kitchen committee. The afternoon session was opened by devotions conducted by Mrs. Nelson, after which a review of the book "The Brother" was given by Miss Cora Mason.

Navy Changes Wave Regulations

Advancement to commissioned officer rank in the WAVES will be made from the ranks of enlisted WAVES as a result of the announcement that no more women will be commissioned as WAVES officers direct from civilian life after this month, according to official information received by Herb. Crain of the Medford Navy recruiting station, which handles WAVES applications in this area.

All officers in the WAVES, after this month, will be selected from the 100,000 enlisted WAVES who will be on duty at 500 Naval stations in the United States. Thousands of enlisted WAVES are qualifying for officer training because a high percentage of them have college degrees or a least two years of college and have outstanding records of service in the ranks.

More than 40 enlisted WAVES from Oregon already have qualified for officer training and have been commissioned in the WAVES. Several among these young women have advanced from apprentice seamen to ensign within a year.

Demo Candidate Ends Southern Oregon Tour

PORTLAND, Oct. 9, (Special) Edgar W. Smith, democratic candidate for the six year United States senate seat, arrived here Saturday after a week's campaign swing through southern Oregon counties and said he would leave again Wednesday for Willamette valley and coast county speaking engagements.

The candidate seemed in high spirits when he arrived for week-end conferences at his campaign headquarters. He has delivered 83 speeches before groups throughout the state and reports enthusiastic reception for his platform. Smith has been successful in both farming and business, has held high appointive posts in the state and has campaigned on the platform of establishing a just and lasting peace based upon international cooperation among nations.

Active among Smith supporters is the brother of ex-Mayor Carson of this City, John T. Carson, who has organized a veteran's committee for Smith. Carson said that veterans wanted a veteran in the senate because they felt that a veteran of the last war with two sons serving in this war was better qualified to help write an enduring peace as well as understand the problems of the millions of returning service men.

Carson said that his committee would solicit the veterans' groups of the state urging Smith's election.

Leland Hess, president of the Multnomah county "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" clubs, reported that more than four thousand members are listed here. He had no report on the upstate memberships in the other county clubs.

Smith said that during the balance of his campaigning he would stress his plans for development of Oregon industry, agriculture and job possibilities.

Welcome

To the People of Ashland and Vicinity

Inventories have been taken and stocks are being replenished as fast as it is humanly possible—and now we ask you all to come in and visit us . . . browse around . . . we want you to feel welcome here at any time, whether or not you purchase anything, as we love to have people come in and look around.

We will endeavor to give you the pleasant service Mr. and Mrs. Broady have given you in the past, and hope we may come up to your expectations in every way.

We, at this time, wish to have you know that all Medford and large city prices will be met within reason, as we will not advertise deep cut prices and then try and force inferior merchandise upon you, a policy that is being practiced in many cities. Here you will get what you ask for at all times, if it is within our power to give it to you.

Our prescription department will be at your disposal night and day, and will be at all times in charge of a registered druggist, thereby safeguarding you and your doctor. Our motto will be "All prescriptions filled as your doctor orders them without substitution."

The personnel of the store remains the same as in the past, with a few additions.

Again we invite you to drop in, and at this time we wish to advise that due to war restrictions the formal opening of the store will have to be delayed for a little while until we can find "something to remember all of you."

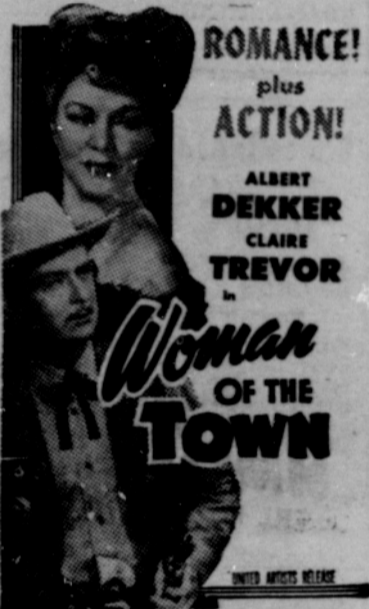

The store will be open every day from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M. until further notice
