TRUCKS THAT PASS

There is much fascination, at least to this editor, in the large number of laden trucks passing through Ashland, inspeculating on where they are from, where they are going and what they may be carrying. Highway 99 being one of the direct routes between Portland and California, we suppose has a big share of the war-born and civilian freight, and never a day goes by but what we see from our window in the front office, many, many trucks going in both directions, laden down with freight. The truck lines are numerous, and the trucks they operate are also numerous, with many individual operated trucks besides.

Some of the loads they carry are tremendous and one cannot but be impressed with the tremendous amount of freight rolling through here.

Some weeks ago, the Christian Science Monitor, a big daily newspaper published in Boston, had an interesting feature article on truck-borne traffic in and out of Boston. That newspaper estimated that there were some 1500 trucks and trailer outfits leaving and entering Boston every 24 hours. When one stops to figure out the weight and amount of freight that many trucks could handle every 24 hours, the amount would be staggering when multiplied by the other large cities in the United States.

Of course Ashland does not see anything like 1500 trucks in 24 hours, but there is a large number of them rolling through here, night and day.

THE CHRISTMAS SEALS ARE NEEDED

Christmas Seal time is here again. This heartwarming practice of buying cheery little seals to help combat tuberculosis, began just forty years ago and has since become a worldwide tradition. The Christmas Seals are sold in 46 countries. This year, as usual, they make their appearance. In a war-torn world they are reassuring reminders that we live in a civilized world after all and humanity has a streak of goodness in it that will not be put down.

This year, as never before, the Christmas Seals are needed. Tuberculosis is on the increase. The steady progress of medical science in the treatment of the disease has not been sufficient to stem the debilitating inroads of war. Our crowded war production centers, overwork and nervous exhaustion have been an open invitation to tuberculosis. The great tragedy is that too many persons don't realize it when the unwelcome guest has found its way into their homes.

Yes, the Christmas Seal has new significance this year. It is one means by which all of us can take part in the fight against the renewed threat of man's ancient enemy—the white plague.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Verne D. Hasting were hosts Thanksgiving day to their two daughters and families, Mrs. Kenneth Burns and two daughters and Mrs. Orth Miller and small son, Gerald. Both Mr. Burns and Mr. Miller are away on duty with the armed services.

Jack Curry of the Parkview convalescent Home went to Klamath Falls Tuesday where he met Mrs. Curry's mother and sister, who arrived by train from Missouri. The mother is recovering from a recent serious illness, when Mrs. Curry was called home. However she has recovered and has come to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Curry. The sister of Mrs. Curry will remain a short time and then return to her home in Missouri.

Chief of police C. P. Talent and daughter Mrs. Marshall Stansberry and daughter Sherry were Thanksgiving day guests at the home of Mrs. Pomeroy.

WANTED to buy Chickens, P. O. Box 281, Ashland, Oregon.

Mrs. Glen Prescott and infant daughter returned to their home Tuesday evening from the Community Hospital. Mrs. Prescott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. G. DeVries of Medford came over to stay a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Prescott, to help the newcomer become settled in her home.

Mrs. Nelle Burns and daughter, Miss Betty Joe, were Thanksgiving dinner guests of Sgt. Krug at Camp White, where they enjoyed a typical GI Thanksgiving dinner, including all the trimmings. They thoroughly enjoyed the occasion, this being their first experience of the kind.

Walter J. Kerrigan and Mrs. Kerrigan of Beach Street have returned from a visit to Seattle with his brother and old school mate Dr. Henry S. Hurley. They spent an enjoyable Thanksgiving on Mercer Island.

Dr. Paul Davies, superintendent of the Oregon Congregational Churches came from Portland Sunday to deliver the sermon. Following the morning services a fellowship dinner was had and this was followed by a business meeting, discussion was centered around the subject of getting a minister to take the place of the Rev. Rees, who resigned for a chaplaincy in the army, in the army. The Rev. McCall will substitute for the present time.

Mrs. Lulu Smith, 137 B Street, was hostess at a Thanksgiving dinner Thursday, covers being laid for six. Present were, besides Mrs. Smith, Miss Pearl Keyte, sister of Mrs. Smith, who is spending the winter in Ashland, Mr. Rice of Grants Pass, Mrs. Smith's daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Naomi Grunewald and Miss Marguerite Grunewald and Mrs. Grace Andrews.

Clayton Kirk, Klamath Indian Business committeeman from Chiloquin has been stopping at the Lithia Hotel and receiving medical treatments.

An auto accident Thursday afternoon near Jackson Hot Springs, brought out the state police and Litwiller's ambulance, to bring the occupants of the car to the hospital. The car left the road and landed in the creek, throwing the occupants into the water. They were brought to the Community Hospital, but while waiting to be taken care of, the patients left without giving their names.

Mrs. Lily Hadley, returned to Albany by bus Tuesday after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Emmett, former residents of Albany and friends of Mrs. Hadley.

Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Friderger left last Wednesday for Eugene to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with their daughter, Miss Jean, who is attending the University there.
