Certificates Honors Chaplain J. H. Rees

On display this week at the Neighborhood Congregational church is a framed certificate from the war department, attesting that the local church had sent its pastor to the army as a chaplain. The pastor is Howard Rees, who late last fall, left for Fort Devons, Mass., where he was inducted and went through his indoctrination course for a chaplaincy in the U. S. Army. A letter of thanks to the local congregation from the War Department accompanied the certificate.

A letter to the editor's family this week from Lt. Rees, stated that he was in Belgium, and that he finds the country a great deal similar to that surrounding Ashland.

Telegrams May Be Sent to Italy Now

For the first time in five years personal and business international messages may be sent to Italy, it was announced today by Grace Blevins, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph company. Government and press messages have been permitted for some time but only with improvement of conditions in Italy has it been possible to re-establish communications for the general public. The new rates for international communications established on May First make it possible for Ashland people to communicate not only with Italy but with other European countries, central America and the West Indies for twenty four cent a word for a full rate message, thirteen cents a word for a deferred message and eight and two thirds cents a word for an over night message.
