Services in Albany For J. J. Putman
 J. J. Putman, father of Mrs. J. W. Emmett, died Wednesday, July Fourth at the home of his daughter on the Ashland Mine Road. Mr. Putman was just a few days past 91 years of age. He has been quite frail for the past year or more but his final illness was but a few days.
 The body was shipped to Albany, after lying in state at the Litwiller Funeral home Friday. Services were held Monday. Interment was made at Amity.
 Mrs. Zerreta Reed came up from Oakland to attend the funeral services with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett.

HOWARD HOBSON VISITED HERE ENROUTE TO EUGENE
 Howard A. Hobson, noted Oregon coach and former basketball mentor at the Southern Oregon College of Education, visited briefly in Ashland Tuesday afternoon. He was accompanied by Anse Cornell, athletic manager of the University of Oregon.
 Mr. Hobson, who has been on sabbatical leave from Oregon, will return to his coaching duties at the University in the fall. He stated that while he had enjoyed and profited by his experiences in and around New York City, Oregon looked "mighty good" to him again. During the past several months, Hobson accompanied by seven other coaches, have been on tour in the Fifth Army area of Italy, serving the army with a sports program, including a special one in Rome for army sports officers.
