by The Old Timer

The merits of silence were exemplified by Calvin Coolidge. And this is an illustration of how few words he washed. One day he went to church. When he came back, Mrs. Coolidge asked what the subject of the sermon had been. Coolidge answered "Sin" Then she asked what the preacher had said and Coolidge replied: "He said he was against it!" Some of our chief executives would do well to pattern after "silent Cal".

"No strike" pledges have been thrown out the window. An industrial war is now looms? Steel workers are demanding a $3 day increase, while automobile workers are asking their pay checks be increased 30 per cent. There are also scattered strikes in the oil industry. The total number of persons idle in labor disputes is over 200,000 This is a woeful waste of manpower, besides being a disturbing factor in the nations reconversion. It is to be hoped that there will be a speedy settlement of the matters at issue.

Hitler was no cheap skate. Secret German budget figures disclose that his annual pay was $2,640,000. In the third year of the war his income rose to nearly six million. In addition to his regular salary as chancellor he received $100,000 a year as president of the Reich and at least five other sums "to be spent as he saw fit".

In the years 1940-43, 7,881 persons were killed in farm accidents. Machinery caused 47 per cent of the deaths. Wisconsin was the most dangerous state for farm workers, with 502 killed in four years.

Second Article on Local Schools Tells What Schools Should Expect of Parents

By Superintendent Leland Linn

Good schools do not just "happen." Everyone interested in the schools of Ashland is anxious that we have a system that is excellent in every way for he feels that the children here are entitled to the best. Good schools are the result of the efforts of both parents and staff members for cooperation is fundamental. Since there is a high correlation between attendance and the quality of work done in school there should be a felling that nothing short of illness or an emergency should keep a student from his classes. In the last years there has been a nation wide tendency on the part of parents that are irresponsible to send the children to school only when it is convenient. Regularity of attendance is a prime requisite for a good school.

The first thing that the Ashland teachers have a right to expect of the parents is that a real emergency exists before they ask that their children be excused from any part of the school day. Nothing is more discouraging

C. of C. To Issue New Folder On Southern Oregon

Wide Distribution Planned On New Three-Color Folder For This Area

A series of conferences between the directors of the Ashland and Medford Chambers of Commerce Tuesday resulted in the announcement of plans to issue a new three-color folder describing the scenic and industrial advantages of Southern Oregon and Jackson county in particular. Herb Grey, president of the Medford Chamber of Commerce and Frank Howell, manager were in Ashland Tuesday to attend a dinner meeting of local directors and at this meeting final plans were made.

Earl Newbry, president of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce, stated Wednesday that the new folder will feature pictures and text on Lithia Park, Crater Lake, Lake of the Woods, the pear and lumber industries, Oregon Caves and other local spots and items of interest. It is planned at this time to have lithographed 150,000 of these three-color folders, and pictures are being taken at the present time for the folder. It is expected that the new folder will be available for distribution on about the first of the year.

"We plan to distribute most of these folders up and down the Pacific coast," said Mr. Newbry, "making them available to the public through hotels, tourist camps, Chamber of Commerce offices, etc. A wide dispersal will be had, and it is hoped that every one will know of the attractions of this area."

A large supply of these booklets will be available for local business and professional men and space will be provided so that should any local business want to have the folder with his imprint on it, it can be had.

The work of getting out such a folder has been under consideration for several months, it was learned, but only lately has the Medford and Ashland Chamber of Commerce directors gotten together to co-operate in putting the booklet before the public. It was thought that a better booklet could be gotten out by combining the work of the two units.

Mr. Newbry stated that about 150,000 of the booklets will be printed at this time, but a later issue is hoped for with the Grants Pass Chamber of Commerce assisting, so that an even larger folder can be issued.

The infant banking house was capitalized at $100,000. Capital funds now total over $20,000,000. Through the trying period following the Civil war, through the monetary panics of 1893 and 1907, the Spanish - American War, World War I and World War II, not to mention the prosperous times of peace between these conflicts, the First National Bank has grown with Oregon and extended its influence in the civic and business life of the city and state.

Since that early day before any bridges spanned the Willamette river in Portland, the bank has grown to be one of the nation's leading institutions with resources of $485,000,000 and a statewide system of modern banking service through its 40 branches and eight affiliated banks throughout Oregon.

Police to Check On Parking Laws

Rules on Double Parking, Curb Parking and Other Traffic Laws To Be Enforced

With the hitting of gasoline rationing, local motorists have taken to using their cars much more was pointed out by Chief of Police Charles P. Talent, and a warning was issued last week that hereafter the police will make a more determined effort to check up on minor infractions of the traffic ordinances in Ashland. These were relaxed somewhat when the wartime restrictions on driving was brought in to effect.

Beginning Monday of this week a motorcycle officer will make an hourly check on parked cars, and enforcement of the parking rules will be given special attention. Overtime parking and double parking especially will be closely checked. Merchants, business men and their employees were asked to park their cars on side streets and parking lots so that customers could have more parking room during business hours. The co-operation of all motorists has been asked by the police chief so that fewer arrests would be necessary.

Chief Talent stated further: "A motor vehicle may be parked double, when there is no available space next to the curb, providing a competent operator is left in the car and the purpose of the stop is for unloading or loading passengers or merchandise, and providing the stop is for a period not to exceed five minutes. "A car may remain parked next to curb for a period of not to exceed an hour in the zone from Helman to Third street on Main.

"Cars should not be left parked in this zone during the hours of 2 to 6 a.m. as the city street sweeper must have access to the curb during these hours in order to do a good job and keep the main street clean.

"It shall be unlawful for any person to refuse or fail to obey any legal order, signal or direction by a police officer."
