This was the reason given by John Klassen, formerly of Ontario, California, for the construction and opening of Phoenix' latest business enterprise known as Johnnies Garage located between the Gladmor and the Old Stage House on Highway 99.

Klassen, currently residing on the premises, left a garage and partnership in Ontario to come to Phoenix, and after his arrival set about constructing, almost single-handedly, the present layout.

Klassen states that his equipment will include armature lathe, hydraulic press, re-boring equipment and arc welding equipment. The operation of the shop will include motor re-building changing frames, rod aligning, electrical work and motor tune-up.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Sam's a Matrimony Expert

Sam Abernathy never intended to be a matrimony expert, but he hit the nail on the head the other day when he said:

"What marriage really needs is more open minds and a lot fewer open mouths."

Sam may not think much of his missus' choice of hats or her habit of serving watercress and cream cheese salad. But he keeps his mouth shut (I mean, he just uses it to eat the salad). And the missus never criticizes Sam's affection for that worn-out chair before the fire, and his mellow glass of beer and pipe at the end of a long day.

From where I sit, that prescription would apply to most human relationships. Criticism rarely rouses, anything but resentment. But an open mind—whether it's applied to a woman's choice of hats, or a husband's preference for a pipe and a moderate glass of beer or two—leads to the conclusion that there's right on both sides.
