Terminating Termites
Annual damage from termites in the United States is estimated to exceed 50 million dollars, yet the installation of a permanent termite control system should not be more than 2 per cent of the cost of a house. In sections of the South, more than 90 per cent of houses show termite infestation.

Speed in Auto Factory
Forty years ago it required five men in the automobile industry to complete the amount of work in the manufacture of automobiles that one man is capable of producing today. This has been made possible through use of mass production techniques and mechanization.

Vegetable Discoloring
Preservation of fresh appearance and condition of leafy vegetables during shipment is claimed for a recently patented method of packing. Discoloration of the butts and ribs of the outer leaves of lettuce can be prevented by spraying or dipping with aqueous solutions of sodium thiosulphate, sodium hypsulphite, sodium metabisulphite and the corresponding water-soluble salts of potassium, magnesium and calcium.

Believe It or Not
When an Oregon elm tree was planted upside down, its roots developed branches growing in the air, and its limbs buried in the ground sent out roots. And in California, a lodgepole pine 18 inches in diameter and 40 feet high grew through a block of granite 20 feet square.

Metal Used on Books
Two precious jewelry metals, platinum and palladium, are being beaten into very thin leaf and employed for decoration of fine books.

New Heating Idea
The radiant baseboard, consisting of a hollow unit through which hot water is circulated, is one of the newest and most significant developments in the heating industry. It takes the place of the conventional wooden baseboard around the exposed walls of a room.

Taxless Town Has Fun
The taxless town of Sweetwater, Fla., gave a series of parties to raise funds for a city hall and youth center. All labor needed has been pledged by craftsmen who live in the town of 500 population. The municipality's only regular income comes from building permits, occupational license fees and auto inspections.

Electrical Farms Gain
The number of electrified farms is growing steadily. At the end of last year there were 3,335,700 farms served by rural power lines. This is an increase of 408,700 over the number of electrified farms reported the previous year, and means that now 56.9 per cent of all farms in the United States are served with electricity.

Flying Like a Bird
Flying equipment which can be strapped to an individual has won a patent for the Connecticut inventor. Application for the helicopter flying apparatus was filed in 1943. It enables the wearer to fly from 125 to 350 miles at 100 to 200 miles per hour. Landing can be made with or without a parachute.

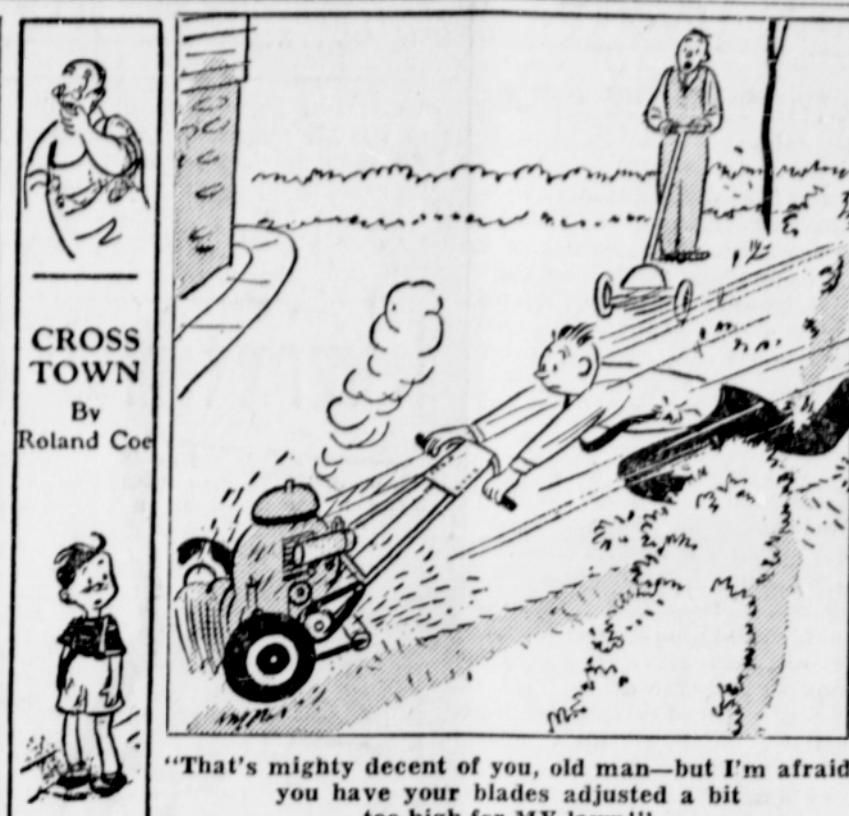

Fish Below Rapids
Pools at the foot of rapids and riffles are good places to fish, for the reason that swift water deposits food in such spots, and fish wait there for it.
