The other day, I heard a couple of 21' men discussing and discussing the aspects of Daylight Saving Time as practiced south of the Siskiyou.

It seems that with California, running an hour ahead of everyone else it takes a battery of six Philadelphia Lawyers to figure out connecting train and bus schedules of trips south. But believe me, the railroad boys aren't the only ones with Daylight Saving Time headaches.

Drop around KWIN most any morning when the network show is coming in from California. . . . "The Haven of Rest," and "The Bible Institute" on alternate days. You see, they normally are heard at 8 o'clock each morning, but with California jumping its clocks ahead, this means that these two programs arrive in Ashland at 7 o'clock instead of 8. Experiment has shown that we can't mix Chuck Field's "Wake Up Rogue Valley" with First Mate Bob's Haven of Rest. Of course, we could run Haven of Rest at 7 o'clock and Wake Up at 8, but then again the consequences might be something out of this world. Those who are used to hearing Haven of Rest at 8 would find themselves gearing their days to the new schedule—Daylight Savings Time! ! !

On the other hand, those who start their day with Wake Up would be losing an hour each day. Now, just imagine exponents of these two programs stopping at McGonigle's Bar and Grill to pass the time of day. What, I ask you, are they going to decide upon as the proper time of day to pass?

Just for the sake of pointing out additional confusion that could very naturally arise, suppose that a third character who doesn't even own a radio staggers in. He'd be operating under an even different time, so how would he fit into the conversation. . . . ?

Before you lose any sleep pondering this question, let me hasten to explain that such a situation will not develop. Instead our chief engineer, Ralph Click, makes it a point of being on hand every morning at 7 o'clock to transcribe the full half-hour show from the network. This transcription in turn is played back for the benefit of not only the KWIN listeners, but for the listeners of all the stations in the Pacific northwest that carry these two shows.

Simple, isn't it. . . . ?

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Snyder, Alhambra, California, arrived Tuesday to visit Mrs. Cad Ellis, 922 Siskiyou, and the three left Thursday for Eugene where they will spend Easter with Mr. and Mrs. Austin B. McReynolds.

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union met at the Methodist church at 2:00 p.m., Thursday, March 25. Mrs. Ellen Thrasher, Grants Pass, Past president gave an address. Those present partook of a silver tea.

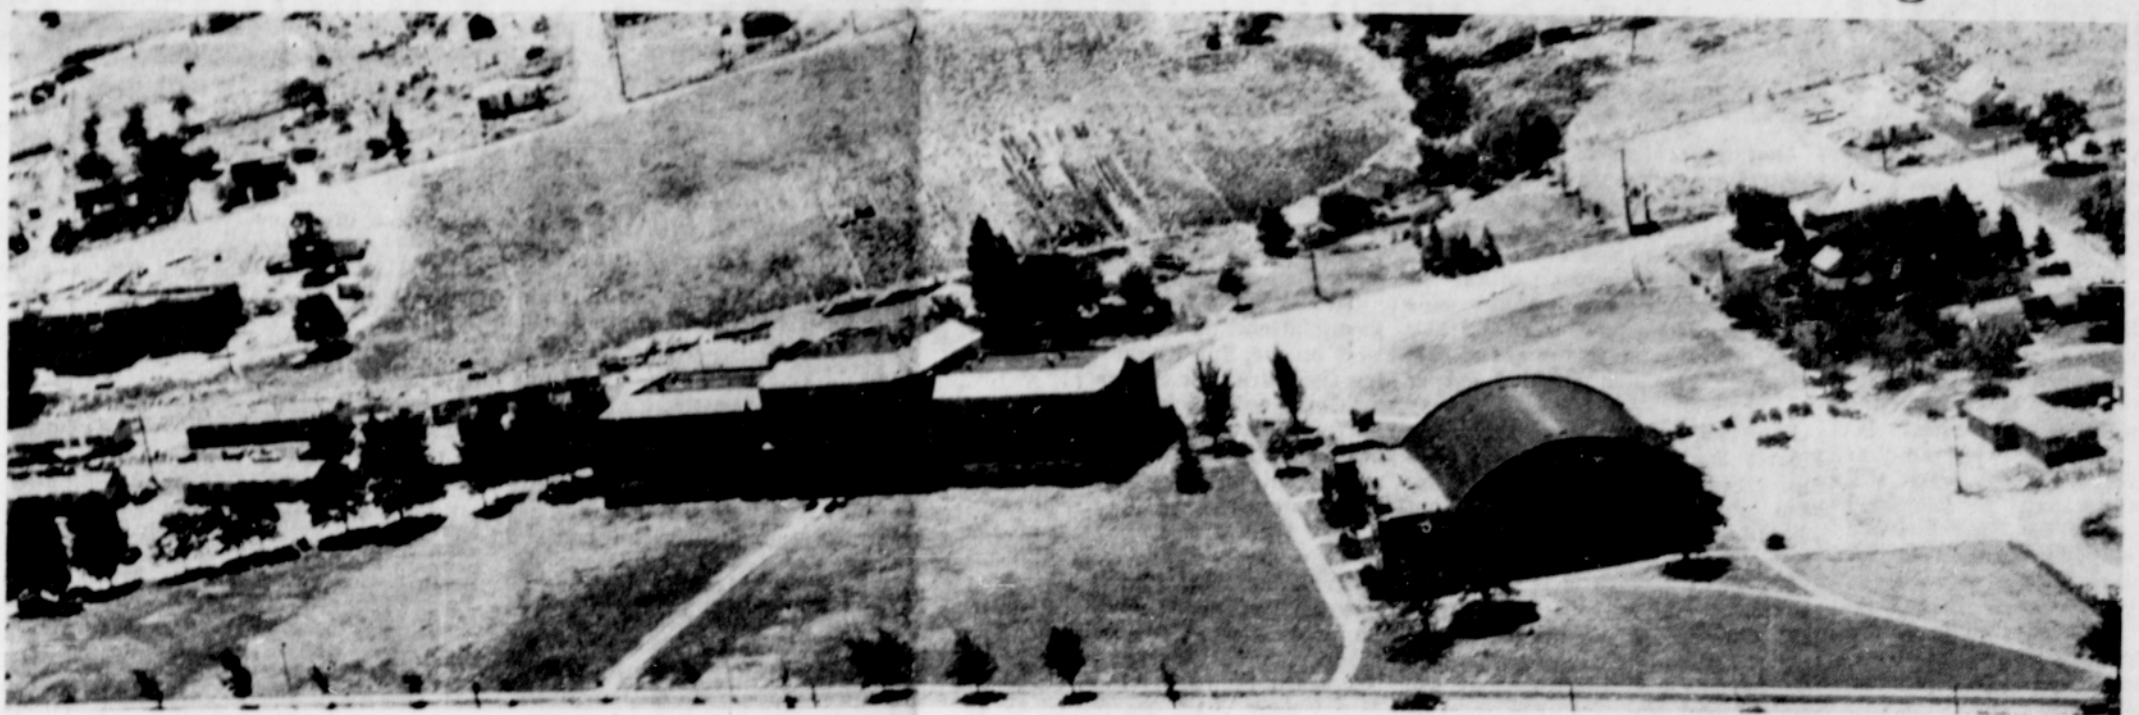

Mrs. Fannie Purdy, 21 4th St. returned last week from visiting in Portland and Corvallis, Oregon.

Recent Airview of Southern Oregon College, Ashland, Oregon

As indicated in this airview, Southern Oregon college has come a long way since it was founded in 1926 as Southern Oregon Normal. The campus, not all visible, consists of 24 acres, allowing adequate room for expansion. The administration building, seen in the center of the photograph, is designed in Italian renaissance. It houses the administrative offices, provides an auditorium seating 600 people, and contains 18 classrooms and a

The college also has a student union and a bookstore and plans are in the materializing stage for a new library and other buildings.

In addition to the facilities shown in the picture the campus includes a potential Pear Bowl site, and the training school which was built jointly by the city of Ashland and the state. The training school is known as Lincoln school, and provides training facilities for more than 300 pupils and 28 student teachers.

The college presently offers only one degree, Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education. Before 1941 only educational courses were offered at the school but since then the state board of education has added two year courses in secretarial science, merchandising, medical and dental assistant, and radio-electric service and management.

This week the Siskiyou, the bi-monthly publication published by the students of Southern Oregon college, came out with an editorial requesting student support and community support on the campaign to increase the size and scope of SOC, which has shown greater growth than any of the state's other higher educational plants. Crux of the Siskiyou program was that the school needed a liberal arts program which extended into the third and fourth year, and to this end the editor urged students to support legislative candidates who were in favor of expanding the school.

FATHER WAITS TABLES

Dads Turn Into Creditable KPs At Second Jr.-Sr. PTA Dads' Night

Dads of the Junior-Senior Parent Teachers association went into the kitchen last Thursday and turned in a creditable performance, according to their wives, in the second Dad's night held during this school year.

Harry Imel was chairman of the affair which featured a covered dish dinner. KP's included Imel, Stan Leonard, Gaylord Vestal, A. E. Karnes, Jesse Vail, W. P. Wright, Joe Fader, Roland Parks, Hugh McKeever and Henry Metz. Lloyd Selby and Robert Van Vleet were on the receiving line. Clarence Lane made the coffee.

Entertainment included Tall Tales, told by four of the dads, Roland Parks story was adjudged the best. The ladies also aided in the entertainment and Mrs. C. A. Heath won the prize for her story.

Other entertainment included the barber shop quartet, Mike Sullivan, Jim Oung, G. A. Sullivan, and R. R. Lytle, who sang tow numbers directed by Gus Wurdinger. Norman Byers played the accordion for additional entertainment.

The business meeting conducted by Mrs. Jack Zittercob, Mrs. Jesse Vail reported on activities of the P.T.A. recreational committee.

The nominating committee was selected for the group. It includes Mrs. Elmo Stevenson, chairman, Miss Ethel Reed, and Mrs. Robert Van Vleet. They will make their report at the time of the next meeting, April 15.

Reno Is Scene of Conley-Brown Rites

Miss Francis Brown, 562 A street, and Melvin Conley, 662 A street, were wed in Reno, Nevada, in an evening ceremony which took place March 17. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Charles Dohm of the First Christian church.

The bride wore a Glenn plaid suit with black accessories. She is employed by the Palace cafe. Mr. Conley is a brakeman for the Southern Pacific. They will be at home at 76 Union street.

MUSIC FOR SUNDAY

United Choirs Will Present Their Eighth Easter Concert

By Annabelle Davis

The message of the Easter season will be presented by the United Choirs of Ashland in their eighth annual appearance Sunday evening at the Methodist Church.

The public is cordially invited to attend the sacred concert, beginning at 7:45 with the playing of organ numbers by Mrs. J. W. McCoy, Presbyterian Church organist. The program will continue with groups of choral music, several of which will be sung a capella.

Opening with Gounod's "Unfold Ye Portals," the Easter theme is developed from the mood of meditation on the love of God and Sacrifice of his son in "God So Loved the World," and of supplication expressed in "Lamb of God" and "Open Our Eyes," to that of awe and reverence in "All in the April Evening" and the negro spiritual "Were You There." The final chorus "Break Forth into Joy" triumphantly proclaims the world's joy in Christ's victory over death.

As featured soloist, Clifford Williams, tenor, will be heard in "The Holy City" by Adams.

The fifty voice choir has been under the leadership of Oscar Bjorlie, supervisor of vocal music in the Ashland High and Junior High schools, whose work with those groups is recognized as outstanding. His study of voice and directing under Dr. F. Melius Christiansen, founder of St. Olaf's Choir in Minnesota, make him especially well fitted to direct a group such as United Choirs. Accompanist is Mrs. Wilma Sheridan, one of the younger musicians of the city, who is a graduate of the school of music of Willamette University.

tie McGee, Grace Lytle, Juanita Huck, Florence Allen, Alta Poley, Evangeline Frost, Key Beck, Marie Bjorlie, Della Weber, Anne Fullerton, Carrol Powell, Wilbur C. Bushnell, Lawrence Powell, J. W. McCoy, G. M. Frost, R. R. Lytle, Allen O. McGee, Bill Bissell, Harry Kannasto, Paul P. Byers, Milton Renzema, Andrew Hall, Giles Green, G. Matthews, George M. Shuman and Clifford Williams.

Marion Felter, 321 Alta street, has been moved from the Sacred Heart hospital, Medford, to the Southern Pacific's company hospital in San Francisco. Mrs. Felter accompanied him to the Bay city where company doctors will examine him for a dislocated neck.

Region Gets More Favorable Publicity

Another local author recently added to the amount of favorable publicity concerning this area when Mrs. Bertha M. Borden, wife of Dr. Evert Borden, pastor of the Congregational church, placed a story in this week's issue of Pacific Parade, the Sunday Journal's magazine section.

Mrs. Borden's story was titled, "Hi-U-Skookum Medicine in Bear Valley," and told the story of the mineral springs in the Ashland area. She told of how the Indians of the Klamath tribe learned of the medicinal property of the mineral water and carbon dioxide gas emanating from springs along what is now Emigrant creek, and how through trial and error the Indians learned that the gas was dangerous, and the water healthful.

Today the gas is used for making dry ice and the Buckhorn Springs lodge remains as a spa for those who would partake of the health giving mineral waters and gases.

Professor Loren Messenger, head of the Psychology Department at Southern Oregon College, has left on a sabbatical leave of absence to work on his doctorate at the University of Oregon during the spring term. Before beginning his research, he is reporting for a two-week tour of duty as a lieutenant commander with the U. S. Navy in Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bilderback, 263 N. Pioneer, were transacting business and calling on friends at Lincoln on Green Springs last Saturday.

Jimmie Gollihur, grandson of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert McIlvanna, who has been ill with rheumatic fever is now up and about.

$100 ROBBERY TAKES PLACE AT LOCAL MOTEL

R. F. Brown, who has been managing the Motel at 1145 Siskiyou boulevard, reported this week that $100.00 had been stolen from the manager's desk Sunday afternoon. The police department was notified and have since been working on the case.

Brown had only been out of the office long enough to show a cabin to a customer. The money was in bills and included a $10.00 traveler's check.

The owner of the motel, Bill O'Donnell, is in Dorney, California and Brown has been managing the hostelry.

Easter Services To Be in Sanctuary

The Easter services of the First Church of Christ, Second and B Streets will be held in the sanctuary of the new building. The congregation has been worshipping in the basement since December 14. While the sanctuary is not completed work has progressed to the point where it can be occupied. Temporary seating and heating have been provided for the time being.

Evangelist Floyd A. Ross will open a series of evangelistic services with the Easter morning services. Mr. Ross is an evangelist of national reputation. He is an instructive and inspiring speaker. He is also a talented violinist and chalk artist. Each night he illustrates some sacred song on the easel as the song is sung. The picture is then given to someone present in the service. These pictures are greatly prized as they are suitable for framing.

The Bible School is working hard to achieve an attendance goal of 351. As a special Easter feature colored film-slides of the last week of Christ's life will be shown during the opening of the school.

Lions To Go To Roseburg Soon

Members of the Phoenix Lions club met Monday evening at the Old Oregon Dinner for dinner and their regular semi-monthly meeting.

Following the dinner a business meeting was held and plans were made regarding future club activities and a proposed trip to visit the Roseburg Lions where they hope to "take the Lion away from them". The Lion is a statuette which is awarded to any club that brings more than 50% of its members to visit.
