

Summer Session Opens at S O C

Summer session opened at Southern Oregon College of Education June 14 with registration from June 14 through June 19. Courses in all but the semi-professional curriculum are listed offerings for the first session which closes July 22. The second session opens July 26 and extends to August 27.

Visiting instructors include Jay Thompson who will give courses in geography and Joseph McClair of Klamath Falls who will give Audio-Visual Aids and Photography. Offered for the first time is a course in Guidance and Counseling with Dr. John Schulz as instructor. All courses required for teacher training will be included as well as some additional work in Social Science and Literature. With practice for the Shakespearean Festival beginning at the same time as the summer session, a number of students from Stanford University and the University of Washington will join the student body for the course in Shakespeare under Angus Bowmer.

Individual instruction in voice and piano carrying college credit will be offered by Miss Dorothy Palmer and Mrs. Ernestine Hartley. The schedule will permit the addition of a class in college mathematics if sufficient demand is made. Requests for mathematics should be filed with the Registrar on Monday, June 14. Eugene Bowman will teach mathematics courses.

Susanne Homes Hall shows indication of capacity occupancy. Both room and meals will be provided for the 66 women and eight men which will be housed there. The Veterans' Dormitory on lower campus will house women with children or students who may wish to cook an occasional meal.

A class in Supervised Play will be organized for the children of summer session students under the direction of Miss Marjorie Filniau and Miss Mary Killingsworth. Organization of the class will take place in Science Hall, Room 6, Tuesday, June 15, at 3 o'clock.

Library Receives Seven Volume Set

A gift to the city library was presented this week by the Congregational Church. It is a set of seven volumes recently purchased through the courtesy of the Oregon City library, and is "A History of the Expansion of Christianity," written by Dr. Kenneth Scott Latourette, professor of Oriental history in Yale university.

A quarter of a century of research and study has gone into the preparation of this comprehensive and valuable history. It is a living, vital presentation of the concrete things which Christianity has contributed to civilization, according to the Rev. Evert Borden, minister of the Congregational Church. With a background such as this faith is strengthened for the struggle which the whole church carries today.

Volume 1 is "The First Five Centuries," a discussion of the background of Christianity.

Volume 2 "A Thousand Years of Uncertainty," from 500 to 1500 A. D.

Volume 3, "Three Centuries of Advance," The growth from 1500 to 1800.

Volume 4, "The Great Century," in Europe and the United States of America.

Volume 5, "The Great Century," in the Americas and Africa.

Volume 6, "The Great Century," in northern Africa and in Asia.

Volume 7, "Advance Through Storm." Brings the history from 1914 to 1945. The seven volumes will be placed in circulation soon.

Dr. Bruce Marries Miss Gloria Wenner

The wedding of Miss Gloria Bess Wenner to James Sanford Cave, Medford, took place Saturday evening in the Dr. G. W. Bruce home at Gresham.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Gerald Wenner, and wore a white summer suit, with white accessories, and carried a white family Bible with an orchid on top of it.

Miss Yvonne Miles served the bride as maid of honor and was dressed in yellow. Delbert Jones, brother in law of the bride, acted as best man.

A wedding dinner was served in the banquet room of the Center Inn following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cave of Medford, Mrs. Willard Cave and sons, Jerry and Glenn from Brownsboro, Mrs. A. D. Hulbert from Roseburg, Miss Yvonne Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Jones and son, Dennis, all of Ashland, and Dr. and Mrs. Bruce, attended the dinner.

The couple will be at home in Roseburg following a wedding trip.

AVOID NEEDLESS RISK, IS WARNING GIVEN TO 'TAKE A DARE' SWIMMERS

(Fourth installment of the "Swim for Safety" series presented in cooperation with the Y. M. C. A.)

"Bet you're scared to swim across the river. I dare you, I dare you."

All too often this challenge, hurled by a teen-age youngster at a swimming companion, has been the prelude to one of the thousands of drownings which occur in this country every year. Needless tragedies they are, too, according to Ray Fletcher, of the Ashland YMCA.

"It is impossible for me to over-emphasize the foolishness of this business of 'taking a dare' when it involves some water stunt a swimmer has never tried before," he says vigorously. "Most of these 'take a dare' drownings happen to teenagers who seem to think they have to accept any dare, no matter how risky, or lose face. Its better any day to lose face than to lose your life."

If swimmers would only swim with their heads as well as with their arms and legs, they would avoid a good deal of trouble, Fletcher maintains. The most important aspect of water safety is just common sense, he says, pointing out that this important bit of mental equipment seems to desert lots of people when they get around water. That is why, he explains, it is necessary for a swimmer's mind to be trained along with his muscles and lungs.

When a swimmer first feels confidence replace the beginner's caution, he is apt to over-estimate his abilities and take chances a more experienced nator would avoid, Fletcher says. For that reason, he adds, beginners should ignore the temptation to overtax their prowess by trying to prove they are better than they really are. "Know your limitations and don't tempt fate," he says. "Remember that in swimming it is better to go out like a lamb and back like a lion. Always keep an energy reserve for safety."

(Do you think it is fun to push people off docks, rock boats or "duck" your friends? If you do, read next weeks "Swim for Safety" article and find out how dangerous this "fun" is.)

H. Johnson Grows Super Strawberry

Henry Johnson, Jr. Highway 66, was showing a Robinson brand strawberry, 6 1/2 inches in diameter this week. The berry is but one of several which because of the weather this spring are growing to gigantic size.

Johnson, who has been raising strawberries for the past six years, says that this year's berries are the largest he has ever seen. He has 3/4 of an acre in strawberries and uses only organic methods to develop them. Most of his berries are Coleman's president, a one crop berry which are on from July to November.

He also raises Gem ever-bearing, which are on from July till frost.

Miss Rose Loomis Has Home Wedding

Miss Virginia Rose Loomis was given in marriage by her step-father, Stephen Whipple, to Richard H. Westerfield, June 11, nine p.m., in the ranch home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Whipple. The Reverend D. E. Millard performed the ceremony. Mrs. Bill Beagle, aunt of the bride, served as matron-of-honor, and Roger Westerfield served his brother as best man. John L. Grubb and Milo Grubb, cousins of the bride, seated the guests for the wedding.

The bride wore a white satin wedding gown with a finger tip veil falling from a beaded tiara. She carried a bridal bouquet of pink rosebuds, gardenias and sweet peas.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the dining room of the Whipple home. The bride and groom cut the wedding cake and serving was continued by the bride's mother, Mrs. Stephen Whipple. Mrs. Larkin Grubb, great-aunt of the bride, served punch and Mrs. D. E. Millard poured the coffee.

The couple will make their home at the Summit Ranch, Green Springs.

The groom was discharged last October from the U. S. Navy, as a store-keeper 1st class, after six years in the service, three years of which were overseas, in the South Pacific Theatre of Operations. He is bookkeeper and timber scaler for the Beagle Lumber Company of Ashland. The bride has taught band and chorus in the Rogue River High school for the past six years.

Vern Smith To Head Chapter For Paralysis

$12,763.04 RECEIPT FOR 1948 POLIO DRIVE

Vern Smith of Ashland was re-elected chairman of the Jackson County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at the annual meeting, marking the close of the fiscal year, held Wednesday evening at the Hotel Medford. The financial report of the 1948 drive was made by Ralph Sweeney, treasurer, and showed net receipts of $12,763.04 from the March of Dimes. Of this amount half or $6,381.52, remains in Jackson county while the same amount was forwarded to national headquarters.

Smith pointed out that present surpluses in the polio fund are being retained in Jackson county in anticipation of construction of the new Jackson county hospital, for which the polio committee will buy supplies and equipment. This plan was again given the endorsement of Dr. A. E. Merkel, medical advisor to the committee at the Wednesday session.

Mrs. Blanche Frisbie, supervisor of the public health nurses, and Mrs. Lewis Ulrich, secretary of the polio committee, revealed that $5,321.86 was spent by the chapter during the past year to aid local polio victims through direct expenditures or in gifts to institutions, where Jackson county cases were treated. Of this amount $1,000 went to Doernbecker hospital, $1,000 to the Shrine hospital and $2,000 to the Crippled Children's division of the University of Oregon Medical school.

Mrs. Glenn O. Taylor, education chairman, reported that 6,000 pamphlets, telling the facts about polio, were distributed in this county.

In accepting the position of chairman for the coming year, Smith stated that he would accept if his appointees would do the same. He then named Harry Chipman, fund raising chairman for the coming year; Ralph Sweeney, treasurer; Mrs. Lewis Ulrich, secretary; Mrs. Elwood Hedberg, chairman of the women's division; Mrs. Taylor, education chairman; Mrs. Moore Hamilton, publicity chairman; Dr. A. E. Merkel, medical advisor, and Mrs. Blanche Frisbie, advisory nurse.

All communities, organizations, businesses and individuals, who assisted in making the last campaign such an outstanding success, were thanked again by Mr. Smith. The report by communities, submitted by Mr. Sweeney, (Continued on back page.)
