Yreka residents are preparing for a big time June 24 to 27 when the annual Gold Rush days get underway; to add to the excitement, Art Craner, manager of the celebration, this week tendered his resignation, saying in part that certain Yreka interests felt that his presence was detrimental to their interests. Needless to say the show will go on. Deer in the rugged mountain fastnesses of the Siskiyou are being fed salt in Operation Salt Lick. The Division of Fish and Game is dropping a quarter ton of salt along Highway 99 and the Southern Pacific railroad for the benefit of the deer. The salt bombs are dropped by plane in areas away from the rails and roads in order to lure the deer from the steel rails and the highway, where they often gather to lick salt drippings from refrigerated trucks and freight cars. Ninety were killed last year because they used the thornbushes for salt licks. At Coquille the entire remaining cranberry crop of last year has been sold and shipped. It amounted to more than four cars, and the manager of the Cranberry association, Ed Hughes, announces that the cannery will soon begin processing blueberries and other types of Oregon berries. The giant redwoods along the Klamath river were used for filming some of the scenes in "Green Dolphin Street." They represented the background for scenes supposedly filmed in a New Zealand lumber camp. In Lakeview the gross business of the Interstate cooperatives of Lakeview and Alturas exceeded the one million mark during the fiscal year just closed according to secretary manager Alva Weekly. Orchards in the areas immediately south of Medford suffered the most damage in the recent hailstorm in that district while those in the Talent, Valleyview, and Ashland regions were relatively unharmed.

Schell Opens Shop
At 1257 Boulevard

Layton Schell, radio repairman announced this week that because of the need for additional space to conduct his radio repair business he had moved from his location at The Mart to 1257 Siskiyou boulevard. Schell, who has had 25 years experience in radio and electronics, will carry a large stock of parts enabling him to repair the majority of radios which would normally enter a shop. He will also do repair work on car radios, and will work with retail radio dealers in fixing their returned radios.

July 4th Celebrations Plans Jell
Rodeo And Horse Races On The Fifth Headline 3 Day Show

Committee members who are preparing for the July 3, 4, and 5th celebration in Ashland have been spending several hours a day during the past week making preparations for the three-day celebration which is expected will attract visitors from all towns in Southern Oregon and Northern California.

Henry Enders is general chairman of the three-day affair which will get off to a pre-festival start Friday night when the Lumber Mills Incorporated softball team meets the Harlem Ghosts, famed clowns of the softball diamond.

Saturday will be Merchants' bargain day in Ashland and to top off the day there will be a Water Carnival at Twin Plunges at 7:30 and a dance and beauty contest at the Armory beginning at 8:30. Cay Huffman of the Ashland Soroptimists is in charge of the dance and Mrs. William Hampton is in charge of the beauty contest and coronation of the queen.

Sunday the Fourth will see several family groups picnicking in the park and there will be a ball game in the afternoon between the Cheney Studs and the Ashland Lithians.

The day of the Fifth will be a big day with the actual festivities taking place on that day. In the morning the patriotic and rodeo parade will take place on Main street. Chief of Police Clarence Williams is in charge of the parade and is being helped by Col. Preston B. Waterbury and Phil Stansbury. Races and events in Lithia Park for children will follow the parade.

At 2:30 Monday afternoon the Ashland Riding Association will sponsor their annual rodeo and horse races at the Rodeo Grounds in Valley View. Stock is being furnished by Mack Barbour.

Among the individuals who are assisting with the celebration this year are Henry Owens, Fred Engel, Bob Edwards, Doyle Seely, Mrs. Arch Barksdale, Mrs. John Daugherty, Henry Metz, Colonel Harold Jordan, Dr. George Hull, Clint Baughman, Roger Rath, John Cotton, John Daugherty, Clyde Caton, Ben Lombard, Mrs. Wendell Lawrence, Walt Bossard, Bert Miller, Harold Thomas, Bob Ingle, Ralph Koozer, Mike Biegel, Fred Homes, Dick Tritts and Wayne Myrick.

Truckers - Wives
To Attend Dinner

The June meeting of the Southern Oregon Truckers League will be held Saturday evening, June 26th, at 7:00 p.m. at the Medford Hotel. This will be a dinner meeting for members and their wives with dinner at $2.00 per person.

The program will include a short business session covering League activities and an interesting speaker and other entertainment.

Any log or lumber trucker who is not a member of the League is cordially invited to attend. Reservations may be made by calling 7481.

Library Given
Funds For Books

The Ashland public library has received $45 from Chapter AC, P. E. O., for the purchase of books for boys and girls, according to an announcement made today by Cora Mason, librarian.

The increased summer reading for the vacation reading club has so cleared the shelves of books that the new titles purchased by this fund will be received with enthusiasm. The books were selected after personal examination of late editions of childrens books in a Portland book shop. They are sure to be popular, especially those about horses and dogs, as "Stablemates" by Johnson, "Gay", a Shetland sheepdog, and "Such A Kind World" by Hunt (about an old grey mare).

A family story "The Mitchells" and its sequel "Canadian Summer" by van Stockum are good for reading aloud; "Thunder Hill" by Gischler, the story of a Nez Perce Indian boy, is an authentic story of the Oregon Territory during pioneer days. Some of the books outstanding for their illustrations are "The White Goose" by Tasha Tudor, "The Tall Book of Mother Goose," illustrated by Feodor Rojankovsky and "A Woods Story" illustrated by Masha. Other titles include animal stories, pioneer stories, modern fairy tales, and a series of picture books published by Encyclopaedia Britannica.

This generous gift is appreciated and will increase the children's opportunities for pleasant reading which educates while it entertains.

T. H. Simpson, Glenn Simpson, Jane, and Bob took a trip to Crescent City a week ago for Austie Barron of Klamath Junction at present.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Anderson made the ride to Oregon Caves with the Medford Trail Riders last Sunday. The riding was wet but the entire party stayed with it to the end where a barbecued beef was served chuck wagon style.

Jon Hansen, former employee of the News Review, left San Francisco this month aboard the President Wilson. He is traveling with the ship as head printer and will go out to Hong Kong and return.

Guard Enlistees
Taken This Week

Lieutenant Colonel Delsman informed Second Lieutenant Bud Silver this week to take enlistments for the National Guard Thursday and Friday of this week at the Ashland Armory. Enlistees must be from eighteen years of age up to twenty-five years of age. Seventeen year olds that sign up will have to register for Selective Service when they are nineteen but will not have to serve if they are still active in the National Guard, and their work is satisfactory.

Privates in the Guard get $2.50 for two-hour drill, and there are many openings for ratings in Battery A, according to Lieutenant Silver.

Mrs. Agnes Witt and daughter, Suzie, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Long and daughter, Paula, Medford, called on Mrs. Ethel Miller, 562 A street, Tuesday.

Baseball Game
Sunday Features
Girls and Miljus

LITHIANS TO PLAY
MEDFORD AT 2:30

With a bang up ball game promised for Sunday between two traditional rivals, the first annual baseball day should be a success, according to Bert Miller, who has been sparkplugging the show.

Medford, always a tough one, when playing Ashland, will meet the Lithians at 2:00 p.m. on Fuller Field. Tickets, now on sale all over town, are going for 75c.

The Lithians with 714 points, are standing in second place in league play. Grants Pass and the Cheney Studs are tied for first with 750 points. The Medford club is in sixth place, but as Miller pointed out, traditionally the Medford team plays its best ball when playing Ashland.

Among added attractions at the ball game Sunday will be the presentation of the Miss Ashland beauty contestants by Ed Singmaster, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Singmaster will introduce Miss Marjorie Newton, who will represent the Soroptimist club; Miss Eugenia Moore, who represents the News Review; Miss Allene Owens, who represents Ashland Lodge BPOE 944; Miss Jean Hartsock, who is sponsored by Fortmiller's; Miss Ann Pirtle, who is Miss Busch Motor, Miss Lucille Hulander who represents Weltzels Department store; and Miss Willette Harndon, who is Miss Ashland Cabinet Works.

The Ashland Riding Association will ride patrol around the field during the game.

First ball of the day will be thrown out by John Miljus, former Pittsburg Pirate, who is a former Ashland resident.

Sheridan Will Be
Coach at Everett

The resignation of Robert Sheridan has been received by the Ashland school board as he has been elected basketball coach at Everett, Washington. Sheridan is being released by the local board as the Everett position is a promotion for him. The student body of 1500 is approximately five times the local enrollment.

Sheridan has been in Ashland one year but in that time has produced fine results with the local squad, according to Superintendent Leland Linn. His defeating of Medford three out of four times during the basketball series was a decided feather in his cap. Sheridan came to Ashland directly from Washington State College where he was captain of the team, top scorer and all conference star. He was highly recommended by Jack Friel, Washington State coach and the local school officials felt lucky to have been able to get him for Ashland. During the past year he taught various courses in the high school as well as coach basketball and act as Coach O'Neil's assistant in football and track.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Billings and Rev. and Mrs. Robert McIlvanna returned last Monday night from Portland where they attended the annual Methodist conference last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Wright, Kansas City, Missouri, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Smith in Medford. The Wrights accompanied by Mrs. E. Howard, Medford, were Ashland callers last Saturday.

Claude Long was transacting business in Ashland last Monday.

Ashland Shakespearean Festival Gathers Momentum Daily

Castings for the major roles in the forthcoming Shakespearean festival which will be held in Ashland, August 11 to 28, has been going on this week under the direction of Angus Fowmer, director of the nationally known Ashland Shakespearean Festival association.

Readings and tryouts have been going on with Bowmer making decisions as to just who will best fit the particular parts in the Bard's plays which have been selected for the 1948 summer program. The plays will be "Othello," "Love's Labor's Lost," "King John," and "The Merchant of Venice."

Students of drama from Southern Oregon College, Stanford

University, and University of Washington are included among the people who are here to take part in the festival.

John Cotton, who is a director of the group, has had a crew of men under the supervision of B. Byrd, contractor, place a new roof on the Festival stage. This will enable the show to go on with no handicap from the elements.

The former Chautauqua shell, which has been converted into an open air theatre will continue to seat the paying customers who will view the show under the stars, in much the same fashion as Shakespeare's original devotees saw the plays performed.

Abe Neslin is in charge of the ticket sales. Memberships include a contributing membership, (any amount under $10.00); a sustaining membership, which for $10.00 includes eight tickets; a sponsoring membership, which for any amount over $10.00 includes eight tickets and a sponsor's certificate; and a life membership, which for $500.00 includes tickets for life to all productions.

The board of directors and the president of the Association, Robert E. Dodge, are firm in their conviction that the festival this year will be an even greater success than it was last year. In 1947 the festival association was reorganized for the first time since the war and the successful season last year gave impetus to the program this year.

Dodge is president of the association. Mrs. John Day is vice president. Harry A. Skerry, Jr., is secretary and Marshall E. Woodell is treasurer.

A reception will be held this Sunday at the home of Mrs. Rose Robinett and Miss Victoria Tavenner, 912 Siskiyou, for the actors and festival officers. The affair will be held from 3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Players and festival backers will get acquainted with one another and will meet representatives of Ashland's civic groups.
