

Ramblin With Ransev

Mrs. Sidney S. Bartlett, formerly Mildred Glazce, arrived by plane Thursday from Angamco, Michoacan, Mexico, to be with her mother, Mrs. Cora Lee Glaze, who is seriously ill at her home on Fairview street. Mr. Bartlett is a Mining Engineer.

Mrs. Jerry Thoreson and her small daughters, Dixie and Norma, and her brother, Bud Teideman and Miss Irma Carroll motored to Crescent City last week for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Teideman. They returned to Ashland Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Teideman.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Fitzhughes, who have been visiting in Merrill, Oregon are in Ashland on business and expect to be in this vicinity for about a month.

Mrs. Bessie Satchel is quite ill in the Medford Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Faske and daughter, Jackie, 63 Nutley street were dinner guests of her father and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Klinger for Sunday dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kear were dinner guests of Mrs. Mary Westmoreland and Claud Long, last Sunday.

NEWS

from Ashland Hi

The regular Monday assembly saw action as Bob DeLisle gave a very peppy speech to wake the students up. Bob stated that there was a lack of interest in the games that was uncommon in Ashland high. He asserted that if the players were as interested and showed the lack of interest that students do, Ashland would be unheard of in the Southern Oregon conference.

Venita Roberson told the students about the traditional bonfire to be held before the Medford game this November 5 on the home turf. A noise parade, starting at the Junior High, at 6:30 will have floats from several clubs. Sponsoring floats are the Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y, Pepsters, G. A. A., Junior Red Cross and the Letterman's club. A prize will be awarded to the club sponsoring the best float.

An Art club is being organized by Joan Heller. Joan plans for the club to make all the advertisement posters needed in the high school. The group will enter the contest being sponsored by the National Society for Crippled Children.

George Henrikson, the new band instructor, is from Lewis & Clark college in Portland. When asked if he was a "long hair" musician, Henrikson said he could out-jazz and out-be-bop any student in school, playing a saxophone.

The Student Body was entertained by Mysterious Brown, a magician sponsored by the National Assemblies Programs, on Tuesday, November 2. The program featured a Ventriloquist named Harley. This was the first time the student body has seen a program of this type.

Shirley Damon, appointed by the Tri-Hi-Y is in charge of getting Mums which that organization will sell at the Medford game.

Students are looking forward to the end of the week with particular interest, possibly because Teachers' Institute will be held at SOC on those days, and that means a vacation.

Ashland Library Receives New Books

TO THE PEOPLE OF ASHLAND:

I wish to express my appreciation to those people who voted for me as a candidate for the City Council. I also wish to thank those of you who voted against me for your keen interest in community affairs and in taking time to register your opinions.

Whichever way the vote goes is of no great consequence. The importance lies in the exemplification of real Democracy at work.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL

Mary Jane Hanscom was the lucky person who won the silver coffee maker at the school carnival.

Room 11 Bats defeated Room 12 Spooks in a football game 8 to 0, last Thursday.

Miss Inlow has been reading the book "Smoky" by Will James.

Room 11 had a Hallowe'en party on Friday. Kathleen Reagan won the first prize for the best costume and Jackie Herburger, 3rd Doy Dutchess, won the prize for the funniest costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Reed, 72 Garfield, spent the past week visiting their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ebson, Tule Lake, California.

Mrs. Heath Wins First Prize

Mrs. Catherine Heath, Ashland, won a first prize for crocheted chair sets at the Oregon State Fair, and is eligible to compete in the national finals of the nation-wide crochet contest.

According to Leo Spitzbart, manager of the fair, the competition was extremely keen, making it difficult for the judges to select the top winners. This was the first year that a trophy had been offered for the best crocheted piece, and this incentive, together with the desire to compete for the title of "Grand National Crochet Champion" in the nation-wide Crochet Contest, produced some of the finest crochet work ever exhibited at the Fair. It was also announced that the Oregon State Fair is making plans to participate in the national contest produced some of the finest crochet work ever exhibited at the Fair. It was also announced that the Oregon State Fair is making plans to participate in the national contest again next year.

The national finals of the Nation-Wide Crochet Contest will take place in New York city during the week of November 20th where first prize winners from over 500 local, county and state fairs will compete. Following the judging, there will be an exhibition of all entries in the Winter Garden at the Hotel McAlpin from November 29th to December 3rd, which will be open to the public.
