

Ramblin' With Ransey

Many guests and tourists are spending their vacations in Ashland—some come for a few days, others for longer vacations—all are loud in their praises of the wonderful climate here and the many scenic spots they have seen—most frequently mentioned are Mount Ashland, Crater Lake and Lake o' Woods. Many speak of the fine accommodations available, others speak of the high prices and lack of service. Let us remember the small services that mean so much to the weary traveler, a glass of ice water to sip and crunch while he decides what to eat or drink, clean car windows ALL AROUND so that he and his fellow travelers will not miss any of the wonderful scenery, clean rest rooms that have much to do with the lasting impression of our hospitality. Some of our city streets still have not been touched since the spring rains washed them out—especial-

Deposits At Bank Total $5,990,724

A year ago the figures were, deposits, $6,483,829.43, and loans, $1,633,140.77, Wenner said.

President F. N. Belgrano, Jr. stated that for the First National group of 61 banking offices, as a whole, the June 30 statement shows loans of $81,397,739.97, and deposits of $54,856,546.94. A year ago, with 56 banking offices in the group, the figures were, deposits $572,979,049.71, and loans, $163,875,390.13.

Looking Ahead

ONCE IN awhile, a new chapter is written in the history of labor union activities. Most labor-management difficulties are very old problems that have existed ever since man first hired-out to another; however, a lot of them belong to new situations, and sometimes we have thought they were new because we had not solved them before. But we have paid increasing attention to hours, wages, and working conditions. A new science of industrial relations has grown up, with nearly every company giving time and effort to improve things for the worker.

In this the unions have helped, for unions in fact exist for the main purpose of looking out for their own. Now, if we have reached the place where union members can see things they can do in turn for their employers, have we not reached an important milestone in industrial relations?

Workers' JUST RECENTLY Progress Mr. Walter Cenerazzo, president of the American Watch Workers Union, led members of his union in a project designed to help the Waltham Watch Company. This company, one of three major American watchmakers, had closed its Waltham, Mass., plant December 31 because it could no longer meet interest payments on a debt of some 5 million dollars.

In closing, the 96-year-old company had to discharge 2,300 workers. Mr. Cenerazzo, having an unusual grasp of the many problems that labor has to face these days, determined to do something.

"If a company is worth working for and drawing a livelihood from, it's worth putting your money into to furnish the working capital to make it a success," he told union members in a mass meeting.

Common THEN MR. CENE- Problems RAZZO and Waltham employees undertook to see what they could do about it. Right away, 320 union members pledged themselves to subscribe $318,000 in equity financing. More than $40,000 was put up in cash. One employee with 45 years service pledged $5,000. A stock-buying plan for employees was set up, permitting purchases of stock on a time-payment basis. "We expect to raise more than $1,250,000 by this method, or about $500 for each employee," said Mr. Cenerazzo.

This is the story of a company up against trouble. It is also a story of employee integrity, courage, and determination. I hope these workers succeed in saving their company. In this story, the theme of labor-management relations has indeed taken a new twist. The workers of Waltham have understood the desperate need of industry for capital. "Twice the working capital is needed now as in 1940, because of increased costs," Mr. Cenerazzo told workers.

This milestone in industrial relations proves that labor unions can see that industry's problems are their problems also. You may call it just good sense—seeing the other fellow's difficulty and helping him out of it. Another name for it is the Golden Rule.
