Chamber Hears Former County Agent Fowler

"Soil Fertilization" was the subject of the talk which Mr. Robert Fowler, retired county agent presented at the weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce members Tuesday.

In opening his speech, Mr. Fowler stated that there has always been a great demand for fertilizers from persons living in cities for lawns and flower gardens. Mr. Fowler went on to say that there are between 40 and 50 soil types and variations in Jackson County and that it is difficult to prescribe for each individual area. Every farm, for example, is its own experiment station to find the best crop fertilizer for its own area.

In the year 1950, only one car of super phosphate was used as a fertilizer. Now there are between six and seven tons used annually. Some users experimented by putting between 250 and 300 pounds of super phosphate on their land every other year. Other users put between 150 and 200 pounds on their land every year. Both factions claimed the best results.

The granite lands near Ashland need Phosphorus, particularly. It has also been found by experiment that Potash is not needed here.

Practices of spreading fertilizer vary. Some farmers use ordinary spreaders, others use a whirligig thrower type, while yet other farmers prefer the old-fashioned method of spreading fertilizer by hand. Hand spreading is not regarded to be as satisfactory as the other methods. This is due to the fact that there is a decided tendency to uneven spreading. This may be seen by looking at fields of clover, for example, where there are wavy spots indicating heavy and light spreading.

Sawdust Used

Mr. Fowler mentioned the fact that much sawdust has been used on soil. He said that this did not damage the soil but mixed with a nitrogen fertilizer, aids decomposition and does not deplete the soil of nitrogen content.

In closing, Mr. Fowler stressed that it does no good to fertilize unless plenty of good water is available to aid chemical action and bacteria action.

Cal Aggies Go Against Pacific In Annual Game

The fourth annual Pear Bowl football classic will get underway at 12:30 Thanksgiving Day on the Medford high school athletic field. The event this year is being sponsored by the Jackson County Shrine club, with proceeds from the game going to the Shriners' home for crippled children in Portland.

The Medford high school band and uniformed bodies of the Shrine will take part in the halftime entertainment and the Medford band will play during the game.

Cal Aggies from Davis, Calif., coached by T. W. "Ted" Fories, a former UCLA athlete, play their game with but one team defensively and offensively, making the only changes by occasional substitution rather than one team for offense and another for defense.

Staggs Uses Platoons

Dr. Paul Staggs, coach at Pacific and son of the famous Alonzo Staggs, puts his victory faith in the so-called two platoon system in which one eleven goes out for competition when the Badgers are on the move and another group takes the field when Pacific defends.

Pacific operating from the "winged T" depends a lot upon Stan Russell, triple-threat halfback who was named on the honorable mention list for Little-All Coast honors last year.

A speedy little sophomore weighing in a 160-pounds by the name of Jim Sunderland also help pace the Badger attack. Sunderland is classed as the team's workhouse, operating only on the ground this year.

Depend On Halfback

Cal Aggies, champions of the Far Western Conference, depend much for their ground gaining on Ken Kuykendall, a young light halfback who has gained 444 yards in rushing, and Frank Saviez, 170-pound fullback, who has run for 128 yards.

Bill Diaz, passing artist for the Aggies, has attempted 111, completed 41 and had 17 intercepted for a gain of 811 yards. Five of these resulted in touchdowns.

Season's record for the two colleges who will be playing in the Pear Bowl for the first time, finds Pacific defeating Western Washington 33 to 13, Linfield 25 to 0, Whitman 33 to 27, Chico 33 to 0, British Columbia 34 to 0 and College of Idaho 48 to 0.

The Badgers tied Pacific Lutheran 20 to 20 and lost to Lewis and Clark 13 to 6.

Downed Stanford's JV's

The agricultural school eleven has downed the Stanford junior varsity 14 to 6, Humboldt 33 to 6, edged Southern Oregon college 14 to 13 and topped San Francisco State 31 to 13. The Aggies lost to Occidental 26 to 0, Santa Barbara 40 to 6 and to Whittier by 20 to 13.

Games with SOC, Humboldt and San Francisco State were Far Western games.

Starting lineup for the Badgers will find the offensive line averaging about 188 pounds with the heaviest players being a 200 pound tackle and a 205-pound tackle. The Pacific U. backfield on offense will average around 174 pounds.

The Aggies line with a 220-pound youth at center as heaviest man listed as starter will average about 190 pounds with the backs weighing an average 160 pounds.

Reserved seat, general admission and student tickets are on sale at the chamber of commerce office and the Medford hotel in Medford and at Eberhart's store in Ashland.
