

Medford Leader Speaks To Guild

The June meeting of the Grace Lutheran Guild was held at the lovely new home of Mrs. Irene Hutchinson of 340 Glenn street with Mrs. Mary Bohn serving as hostess.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Gladys Barth and the devotionals were led by Pastor Paul Harms. The guest speaker was Mrs. Arthur Jahnke, who is the president of the St. Peter's Ladies Aid of Medford. She gave a most interesting report of the recent Women's Missionary League convention in Portland which she attended as a delegate.

The meeting was followed by a social time when the hostesses, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Bohn and Mrs. Edith Gettling served refreshments of strawberry pie.

There will be no July meeting of the Guild but in August the members will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Ida Zetzman, 1372 Iowa street.

Dr. Sommer was a native of St. Gallen, Switzerland and a graduate of the University of Zurich where he received his doctor's degree, before coming to the United States in the early 20's. For twenty seven years he has been doing research with the Hooper Foundation of the University of California.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Suzanne and a son, Richard, who are both students at the University of California, his mother, two sisters and a brother all living in Switzerland.

Services were held on Thursday morning in San Francisco with interment to be held later in the Ashland Mountain View cemetery.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON . . .

ceive the public consideration it deserves. Its recommendation number 6 is especially worth attention, so I quote it here:
"6. The Grand Jury is not convinced that the Loyalty Boards established by the Government are sufficient protection against the infiltration of communists or of the communist-inspired into governmental departments.
"It is further convinced that the security of the country is not adequately protected if a Loyalty Board limits its inquiry involving governmental employees to a determination of the individual's loyalty. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, on his retirement as Secretary of Commerce, called public attention to this inadequacy and stated that, since all governmental departments "today deal with secret information," each and all of their employees should be good security risks, and hence should be screened by standards that include "the company they keep and stability of character."
"The Grand Jury endorses Mr. Whitney's position and recommends that Congress study means to insure against the government's employment of any individual who is "a poor security risk"; and meanwhile repeats that no citizen is invested with the right to work in government."

CORA HANDGEN MILLION
One of Ashland's long time residents, Cora Handgen Million, passed away on Monday morning at her home at 603 Oak street.

Mrs. Million was born on September 30, 1865 at Leipsic, Ohio, coming to Ashland in 1893. In 1895 she was united in marriage to W. B. Million, son of early Ashland settlers, who preceded her in death in 1930. Mrs. Million was known for her love of gardening and her flowers were her greatest interest. She could be found working among them at almost every season of the year. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Mildred Million of Ashland.

Services were held at the Litchner Funeral Home at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon with Rev. George Shuman pastor of her church officiating and entombment following at the mausoleum.

Plans Made to Welcome Rev. Harms New Bride

Mrs. Ida Zetzman was hostess last Friday afternoon to a group of friends and neighbors at her home on Iowa street. The time was spent socially and an informal discussion was held and plans made for a pantry shower for Rev. Paul Harms and his new bride who are expected to arrive in Ashland about July 16. Arrangements were also made for a congregational picnic to welcome the pastor and his wife on July 23 in Lithia park.

At the close of the afternoon the hostess served raspberry shortcake to her guests. The house was beautifully decorated throughout with sweet peas.

Radio Transcriptions Publicize Festival

Radio transcriptions publicizing the 1950 Shakespearean Festival will be used to tell people in Oregon about plans for the tenth anniversary production.

The transcriptions are being made by station KWIN with the festival paying the cost of the records only. Scripts were written by Carl Ritchie of Salem, who is here on leave from a Salem radio station and taking part in the festival.

All radio stations in the state are receiving the transcriptions and they will be asked to play the records as a public service feature.

Ed Barnett, KWIN manager, says that this type of publicizing has been very successful and will help the festival greatly. This is the first time transcriptions have been used to publicize the festival.

I appeal to any cook, be she bride or be she master, what is more disheartening than a gorgeous egg souffle gone flat because it waited in the oven for a late-homecoming male?

With my once-beautiful triumph staring at me limply from a scorched casserole I got a jovial: "Sorry I'm late, dear. Watch stopped again and I missed the train."

After murderous thoughts subsided I determined that a new watch was number one on the present parade for His Honor's birthday. I hid myself to the jeweler the next day for a look at something to bring 'im back on time.

I got more than I bargained for: I was treated to a behind-the-scenes peek at how watch manufacturers come up with those beautiful designs you and I accept so casually. Why, as much talent, thought, effort, research, and time goes into a new watch design as into the latest Paris femme fatale creation!

Take for instance, America's largest watch manufacturers in Elgin, Ill., wanted a new series of men's and ladies' watches in the moderately-priced category to appeal to the young and young in heart. Then the fireworks started. A panel of judges was carefully selected made up of four young, top-notch New York designers. These experts drew up a list of qualifications a design must meet to get their approval. Packed into the list was research from throughout the field; information from people who forecast fashion, jewellers who find out trends, the man on the street, designers, manufacturers. Boiled down, the qualifications said today's watch must be simple and functional in design from which time can be told at a glance. It must be smart and uncluttered in appearance.
