Son Outsmarts Dad

WALTER was the proud owner of a black mongrel, which was a nuisance to the rest of the household. But Walter was so devoted to the dog that he could not be persuaded to part with it. At last Walter's father made him an offer. "My boy," he said, "I'll give you $10 if you'll get rid of that dog." The following morning Walter came to him and told him that the mongrel had gone. "That's excellent news," said his father. "Here's the money. How did you get rid of him?" Walter smiled as he pocketed the money. "I swapped him with Reggie Jones for two black puppies."

Shopper's Battle

The tall, dignified man joined the crowd in front of a bargain counter, in an attempt to get a very special pair of hose for his wife. He inched his way patiently, but was buffeted here and there by the women, and made no progress. Suddenly he lowered his head, stretched out his arms, and barged through the crowd.

"Can't you act like a gentleman?" inquired a cold feminine voice at his elbow. "I've been acting like a gentleman for the past hour," replied the man, still charging forward. "From now on I'm going to act like a lady."

Dogs Don't Vote

One day when he was a senator, former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was listening to a colleague who was delivering a long winded address on the plight of the nation's dogs. Dog food, wailed the colleague, was being sold for human consumption, creating a food shortage for the canine population. When the senator had concluded his eloquent address, a friend asked Byrnes: "What did you think of his speech?" "Not bad," replied Byrnes. "What a pity that dogs don't vote."

SULPHUROUS SERGEANT

Pvt.—Did you hear about our first sergeant—he drank some sulphuric acid by mistake last night. Cpl.—Did it bother him? Pvt.—Not much, but every time he blows his nose he sets his handkerchief on fire.

Inquisitive

Passing a door in the wee hours of the morning, a drunk noticed a sign which read, "Ring the bell for caretaker." He did just that, and a sleepy-eyed man came to the door. "What do you want?" asked the caretaker. "I wanna know why you can't ring the bell yourself."

HE RESTORES HAIR

A man dropped his wig in the street and a boy picked it up and returned it to him. "Thanks, my boy," said the owner of the flying wig. "You are the first genuine hair restorer I have ever seen!"
