Constitution Day Observed by DAR

Mt. Ashland chapter DAR met at the home of Mrs. Anna Wagner and Miss Lydia McCall on Oak street last Friday evening with the first vice-regent, Miss McCall, presiding in the absence of the regent, Mrs. I. T. Robinson.

Reports from the program chairman, Mrs. J. H. Harker, and from the state and national committee chairmen were discussed. One of the year's projects will be the collection and listing of pictures of early historic houses of the Ashland area. It is hoped that anyone having either pictures or a house which may be photographed will contact the chairman, Mrs. Rosa Dodge Gale.

The program which was in celebration of Constitution day, was in charge of Mrs. Margaret Dodge and took the form of an analysis of the document and its framers. She traced the struggle of the colonists in their formation of the first states and their belief in the rights and privileges of free Americans, showing the broad long-range vision of the statesmen who provided for a growing population and changing conditions.

During the social hour which followed the program the hostesses served refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee. Those assisting Mrs. Wagner and Miss McCall were Mrs. Una LaMarre and Mrs. Ned Mars.
