

Carnival In Venice

weekly Picture story

● Tourists from all over the world thrilled as Italy's fabulous Venice, which rose to world fame as a trading center 635 years ago, forgot the trials and tribulations of a war-weary world and celebrated its annual water carnival. Pictures above and at the left show medieval pomp come back to life. They are general views of the water parade as hundreds of gondolas proceed down Venice's "Broadway" — the Grand Canal.

● Over 500,000 people, using anything and everything that floats for seats, lined the Grand Canal to watch the world's biggest water carnival. Hundreds of gondolas and gondoliers made a magnificent procession up and down the canal, over the exact route used by the Doge six centuries ago. The gondolas haven't changed much—the costumes are authentic and the backgrounds are the same. Most of Venice's professional gondoliers (right), 500 of them, are water taxi "cabbies" 364 days of the year, but the water carnival is their chance to be "king for a day". Below is one of the ornate gondolas with eight gondoliers.

SPORTSMAN'S HORIZON

By JIM RHODY

Wing Shooting

We agree with that vast majority of outdoor writers who assert that wing-shooting cannot be taught by the printed word. It's a fact—it can't be done. But, as in any other sport or undertaking, there are certain little skills picked up by the veteran which may often help the beginner—or even a veteran scatter-shot man whose shooting isn't as good as it should be.

For instance, here's one tip, if followed, that is guaranteed to improve the field score of an indifferent wing-shot: When hunting quail, remember that your chance for a kill is better if you will single out one bird at a time. That chance becomes even better if you'll wait until Mr. Bobwhite "levels off."

It will always pay to wait until they "level off."

Anyone will concede, we imagine, that this is a hard thing to do, inasmuch as a covey flush of quail is unquestionably one of the most exciting things that ever happens to a sportsman. But, if you can contain yourself, select your bird and wait until he has topped his rise, you'll put more quail in the game pocket of that old hunting coat than you've ever done before—that is, if you haven't been following such a system.

Veteran bird hunters will tell you that quail will in 99 out of 100 cases, always "level off" after coming to the top of his rise, although this "leveling" process may put him in a curving horizontal flight, that may take him up or down from the initial trajectory. However, by concentrating on the one bird and waiting for that "leveling off," the gunner will be in much better position to make the proper lead and trigger off at the proper time.

That's why "waiting until they level off" will pay big dividends for the quail hunter.

All Together

It is essential that a spirit of cooperation, confidence, and appreciation exist between the sportsmen of any state and their Game and Fish Department.

The primary purpose of your Game and Fish Department is to produce as many game animals, fish, and game birds for the sportsmen's hunting and fishing as is possible under the present land use policy.

In return the Department is indebted to organized sportsmen's groups for their co-operation in making suggestions for open and closed seasons most advantageous to the sportsmen of the localities, as well as for their support in securing passage of beneficial legislation for the protection and propagation of wildlife. The Wyoming Game and Fish Department invites the sportsmen of the state to inform themselves to the greatest possible extent relative to our activities and to give us the benefit of their assistance.

All sportsmen are the beneficiaries of wildlife conservation effort. Most often it is the city sportsmen who reap the greatest benefit. It is they who have more time to hunt and fish during the summer and autumn seasons. They have no investment other than the license fee and the money spent for hunting and fishing equipment.

On the other hand, many people in agricultural work have little time for hunting and fishing, yet they often sustain considerable loss supporting game animals on their own deeded land without remuneration for the feed consumed. They are further inconvenienced many times by thoughtless sportsmen who leave dirty camp grounds and torn fences behind them, and in other ways damage property.

Wildlife conservation must have our common interest if it is to benefit our state and our people.

Line Floater

This may not work on every fly-line, but we're passing it along for what it's worth: Plagued by a line that kept sinking a short while after we had dressed it, we stopped fishing, dried the line with a handkerchief and, with it still partially wet, dressed the six feet nearest the leader.

Then, believe it or not, that section of the line floated perfectly and kept up the belly of the line behind it.

ABSOLUTE PROOF HADACOL HELPS FOLKS SUFFERING STOMACH DISTURBANCES

when due to lack of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin in the system!

Mrs. John W. Geary, attractive and charming woman of 840 Ursuline Street, New Orleans, Louisiana: "I'd been sick quite some time and the doctors told me it was a nervous stomach. I couldn't eat regularly and lots of times I was unable to hold the food on my stomach. Then I heard about HADACOL. After the first few bottles I could tell a definite improvement. Now my stomach doesn't trouble me at all. I eat anything I want, and my nerves are fine." (Give HADACOL a chance to help you.)

Mrs. Hilton Shuff, a loving mother of Route 1, Box 42, Ville Platte, Louisiana: "My son Mark Wendell has been sick for some time. A lot of the time he couldn't hold anything on his stomach. He was very weak and pale. Then I started giving him HADACOL, and he improved in just a short time. He's gained weight and has more energy than a dozen wild Indians." (HADACOL is great for puny, nervous kiddies with easily upset stomachs due to lack of important Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin.)

Mrs. Alma Kincaid, 2125 E. Adelaide, St. Louis, Missouri: "I've been taking HADACOL for over a year. Before taking it, I had stomach distress for some time. Nothing seemed to help me. Then I took my husband's advice and took HADACOL. A good friend of his told him of the wonderful results he had from HADACOL. Now that I'm taking HADACOL I eat anything. I recommend HADACOL to all my friends." (A big improvement is often noticed within a few days.)

WHY CONTINUE TO DOUBT

These are just a few of thousands upon thousands of letters that constantly pour in telling of the wonderful results the great new HADACOL is giving. It's only a very foolish person who would continue to 'doubt' HADACOL's effectiveness and continue to suffer in view of such overwhelming evidence.
