“Uprooted: Japanese American Farm Labor Camps During World War II”

Sep 12-Dec 12 (Mon-Sat), 10am-5pm; Sep 12, 6-8pm (opening event); Four Rivers Cultural Center (676 SW Fifth Ave, Ontario, Ore.). View “Uprooted: Japanese American Farm Labor Camps During World War II,” an exhibit about Japanese-American farm labor camps. On February 19, 1942, U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced removal and incarceration of more than 120,000 U.S. residents of Japanese ancestry during World War II. Between 1942 and 1944, approximately 33,000 individual contracts were issued for seasonal farm labor, with many incarcerated Japanese Americans working in the sugar beet industry. “Uprooted” tells the story of the first such labor camp in Nyssa, Oregon, which, at its peak, held 350 people. The display includes a selection of images documenting the labor camps near Nyssa as well as the towns of Rupert, Shelley, and Twin Falls, Idaho taken by Farm Security Administration (FSA) photographer Russell Lee. A talk about the exhibit — “The Camp Without a Fence” — is scheduled for September 13 from 3:00 to 5:00pm. For info, call (541) 889-8191, or visit <www.4rcc.com> or <www.uprootedexhibit.com>.

Join Portland Parks & Recreation (PP&R) for a series of 5K races held at Portland parks. Each race costs $5 for adults and is free for participants 17 years old and younger. In addition to the 5K race at 9:00am, the event also features music, a 40-foot rock climbing wall, an 8:45am 1K Fun Run for children eight years old and younger, and more. To register, call (503) 823-2525 or visit <www.5dollar5k.com>. To view a complete schedule of races, visit <www.portlandparks.org>.

Forum on racial impact statements

Sep 16, noon-1pm, Oregon State Capitol, Hearing Room 50 (900 Court St NE, Salem, Ore.). Join Oregon state senator Chip Shields (District 22: N/NE Portland) for an informational forum about addressing racial disparities in the 2015 legislative session through the implementation of racial impact statements. The Oregon State Legislature last passed racial impact statement legislation in the 2013 legislative session. Racial impact statements are a relatively new tool developed to estimate the impacts of proposed child-welfare and criminal-sentencing legislation on racial minority populations. The forum is open to the public. For info, call (503) 231-2564, e-mail <sen.chipshields@state.or.us>, or visit <www.oregonlegislature.gov/shieldsc>.
