Making gadgets in China

Q. How is marketing products in China different from North America?

A. Online is No. 1 in China. China skipped all the shopping mall phenomenon and they jumped right into internet selling. So in order to sell to China, you have to find the right website. You have to really get into the social network to promote your product. It’s not the advertisements on TV that are the most important. It’s the advertisement through social networking that is key in the selling of your products.
