"Do You Know Bruce?"

Through Sep 4 (Tue-Sun), 10am-5pm; Sep 3-4, 10am-5pm (closing weekend); Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience (719 S King St, Seattle). Learn about Bruce Lee — including his impact in media during a time of racial stereotypes and barriers — at "Do You Know Bruce?" Part two of the display, "Breaking Barriers," tackles Lee's larger-than-life impact in the media and film industry. From "The Green Hornet" to Enter the Dragon, Lee defied stereotypes, broke barriers, and transformed media perceptions by insisting on playing roles of real people rather than of Chinese male caricatures. The exhibit features a collection of Bruce Lee collectibles and personal belongings, highlighting the stories behind his iconic and lesser-known onscreen roles. The closing weekend of the exhibit features giveaways, an outdoor film screening on Saturday, September 3, and more. Part 3 of the exhibit opens October 1, 2016. For info, call (206) 623-5124, or visit <www.wingluke.org> or <www.doyouknowbruce.com>.

"Unsettled/Resettled: Seattle's Hunt Hotel"

Through Sep 25, 11am-3pm (Tue-Sat), noon-3pm (Sun), Oregon Nikkei Legacy Center (121 NW Second Ave, Portland). View "Unsettled/Resettled: Seattle's Hunt Hotel," an exhibit about the thousands of people of Japanese ancestry who were incarcerated in internment camps during World War II and returned homeless and jobless to their former communities in the Seattle area. Using interviews, archival footage, photographs, and original artworks by Aki Sogabe, the display recalls the resettlement experience of the families and individuals who found lodging at the Seattle Japanese Language School from 1945 through 1959, when it operated as a temporary hostel. For info, call (503) 224-1458 or visit <www.oregonnikkei.org>.

"Khmer Americans: Naga Sheds Its Skin"

Through Nov 13 (Tue-Sun), 10am-5pm, Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience (719 S King St, Seattle). Watch "Khmer Americans: Naga Sheds Its Skin," an exhibit about the Khmer people, who have been affected by war, which impacts their culture and identity. Despite the challenges, the community continues to shape the U.S. and Cambodia. For info, call (206) 623-5124 or visit <www.wingluke.org>.

"Everything has been Material for Scissors to Shape"

Through Apr 16 (Tue-Sun), 10am-5pm, Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience (719 S King St, Seattle). View "Everything has been Material for Scissors to Shape," an exhibit that pairs works by contemporary Asian Pacific American artists with objects from the Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience's collection and archives to frame relationships between myth and the everyday and how textiles shape and form history and human experiences. For info, call (206) 623-5124 or visit <www.wingluke.org>.
