"Oregon Voices"

Currently on display, 10am-5pm (Mon-Sat), noon-5pm (Sun), Oregon Historical Society Museum (1200 SW Park Ave, Portland). View "Oregon Voices: Change and Challenge in Modern Oregon History," a display that took five years to create. The interactive exhibit, which tells Oregon's story from 1950 forward, includes films, photographs, recordings, digital documents, and interpretive graphs. Admission to the museum is free for Multnomah County residents and all Oregon school groups. For info, call (503) 222-1741 or visit <www.ohs.org>.

"Do You Know Bruce?"

Through Sep 4 (Tue-Sun), 10am-5pm; Sep 3-4, 10am-5pm (closing weekend); Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience (719 S King St, Seattle). Learn about Bruce Lee — including his impact in media during a time of racial stereotypes and barriers — at "Do You Know Bruce?" Part two of the display, "Breaking Barriers," tackles Lee's larger-than-life impact in the media and film industry. From "The Green Hornet" to Enter the Dragon, Lee defied stereotypes, broke barriers, and transformed media perceptions by insisting on playing roles of real people rather than of Chinese male caricatures. The exhibit features a collection of Bruce Lee collectibles and personal belongings, highlighting the stories behind his iconic and lesser-known onscreen roles. The closing weekend of the exhibit features giveaways, an outdoor film screening on Saturday, September 3, and more. Part 3 of the exhibit opens October 1, 2016. For info, call (206) 623-5124, or visit <www.wingluke.org> or <www.doyouknowbruce.com>.

"Unsettled/Resettled: Seattle's Hunt Hotel"

Through Sep 25, 11am-3pm (Tue-Sat), noon-3pm (Sun), Oregon Nikkei Legacy Center (121 NW Second Ave, Portland). View "Unsettled/Resettled: Seattle's Hunt Hotel," an exhibit about the thousands of people of Japanese ancestry who were incarcerated in internment camps during World War II and returned homeless and jobless to their former communities in the Seattle area. Using interviews, archival footage, photographs, and original artworks by Aki Sogabe, the display recalls the resettlement experience of the families and individuals who found lodging at the Seattle Japanese Language School from 1945 through 1959, when it operated as a temporary hostel. For info, call (503) 224-1458 or visit <www.oregonnikkei.org>.

"Khmer Americans: Naga Sheds Its Skin"

Through Nov 13 (Tue-Sun), 10am-5pm, Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience (719 S King St, Seattle). Watch "Khmer Americans: Naga Sheds Its Skin," an exhibit about the Khmer people, who have been affected by war, which impacts their culture and identity. Despite the challenges, the community continues to shape the U.S. and Cambodia. For info, call (206) 623-5124 or visit <www.wingluke.org>.

"Everything has been Material for Scissors to Shape"

Through Apr 16 (Tue-Sun), 10am-5pm, Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience (719 S King St, Seattle). View "Everything has been Material for Scissors to Shape," an exhibit that pairs works by contemporary Asian Pacific American artists with objects from the Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience's collection and archives to frame relationships between myth and the everyday and how textiles shape and form history and human experiences. For info, call (206) 623-5124 or visit <www.wingluke.org>.

Jade District tour

Aug 16, 10am-noon, S.E. Division Street MAX Station (9402 SE Division St, Portland). Take a tour of the Jade District as part of NeighborWalks 2016. The two-hour walk — which is 2.5 miles (and 5,000 steps) — is supported by Oregon Walks and the Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon (APANO) and highlights local businesses, a multi-use path, a new school campus, challenges for pedestrians, and more in the growing neighborhood. For info, call 1-866-554-5360 or visit <http://states.aarp.org/neighborwalks2016>.

Free lead-poisoning prevention workshop

Aug 16 & 27; Aug 16, 6-7:30pm, Community Energy Project (2900 SE Stark St, Suite A, Portland); Aug 27, 2-3:30pm, Multnomah County Central Library (801 SW 10th Ave, Portland). Attend a free, family-friendly workshop focusing on the prevention of lead poisoning. Participants learn about lead-safety techniques and income-qualified attendees receive a free kit of safety materials. For info, or to register, call (503) 284-6827, ext. 109, or visit <www.communityenergyproject.org>.

Disaster plan summer socials

Aug 16, 17, 23 & 30, 6-8:30pm; Aug 16, Wallace Park (1600 NW 25th Ave, Portland); Aug 17, Columbia Park (7701 N Chautauqua Blvd, Portland); Aug 23, Lents Park (SE 92nd Ave & SE Holgate Blvd, Portland); Aug 30, Gabriel Park (SW 45th Ave & SW Vermont St, Portland). Attend a summer social hosted by the Portland Bureau of Emergency Management (PBEM) to provide resident feedback on the "Mitigation Action Plan (MAP): The City of Portland's Path to Resilience." The disaster plan lists actions that may be taken to save lives, lessen property damage, and reduce the impact on the city's most vulnerable populations in response to natural disasters. For info, call (503) 823-3928, e-mail <TheMAP@portlandoregon.gov>, or visit <www.portlandoregon.gov/pbem/naturalhazard>.

THE GAME OF DEATH. Learn about Bruce Lee — including his impact in media during a time of racial stereotypes and barriers — at "Do You Know Bruce?" Part two of the display, "Breaking Barriers," which ends September 4, tackles Lee's larger-than-life impact in the media and film industry. Pictured is Bruce Lee in his iconic yellow jumpsuit in The Game of Death, which was finished posthumously in 1978. The film weaves in work that Lee began in 1972, including his three fight scenes with nunchaku-wielding Dan Inosanto, Korean martial artist Ji Han Jae, and 7'2" Kareem Abdul Jabbar.
