“Beyond the Gate: A Tale of Portland’s Historic Chinatowns”

Currently on display, noon-5pm (Thu-Sun), Portland Chinatown Museum (127 NW Third Ave, Portland). View “Beyond the Gate: A Tale of Portland’s Historic Chinatowns,” a display of rare and seldom-seen objects such as Chinese opera costumes, theatrical sets, bilingual text, audio-visual media, and interactive visitor stations that tell a sprawling transnational story of contact and trade between China and the west, focusing on Portland’s Old Chinatown (1850-1905) and New Chinatown (1905-1950). The exhibit is an expanded permanent version of the display featured at the Oregon Historical Society in 2016. See story by Kelly La Croix, “‘Beyond the Gate’ showcases Portland Chinatown’s past and present” (AR, May 6, 2019), at <www.asianreporter.com>. For info, call (503) 224-0008 or visit <www.portlandchinatown.org>.

agreed that Japan had played the better game.

Regardless, Japan’s talent is undeniable. As one analyst pointed out, seven of the Japanese players on the pitch in the Netherlands match were in their very first World Cup. This level of young talent and the team’s storied history should assure Japan many more chances to prove that this loss was just a fluke.
