16 DAYS. Team China performs during the team free routine artistic swimming competition at the 19th Asian Games in Hangzhou, China. The Asian Games closed its 16-day run at the 80,000-seat Olympic Sports Center Stadium with host nation China again in command. China won 201 gold medals and 383 overall at the competition. The Asian Games close in China. Nagoya, Japan, coming next.

2026 Aichi-Nagoya Games, said Japan would build only two new venues, unwilling to splurge as it did for the recent Tokyo Olympics.

Hangzhou is reported to have built 56 sports facilities and 30 training sites as well as major infrastructure investments for the games, which were delayed a year by the COVID-19 pandemic. Nakamori said the Chinese "hardware was wonderful. We can't pretend those kind of games. Our concept is to use existing venues."

He said the two new venues that were being built are a stadium and an arena. In addition, Nagoya will use the swimming and diving venue in Tokyo built for the 2020 Olympics, and will hold cycling and equestrian events near Tokyo. "That means we have to work on the software and people power," he added. "For our side it is a disadvantage because we lose one year, especially for the marketing activity."

Hong Kong court upholds a ruling in favor of equal inheritance rights as taxation, civil service benefits, and dependent visas. Many of the government's concessions were won through legal challenges in recent years as the city has seen a growing social acceptance of same-sex marriage. The ruling is a victory for the city's LGBTQ+ movement and is expected to have a strong impact on the lives of same-sex couples from Hong Kong who married overseas.

Also in October, the same court upheld two earlier rulings that supported the granting of subsidized housing benefits to same-sex married partners. In September, the city's top court ruled in a landmark decision that the government should provide a framework for recognizing same-sex partnerships. The more recent ruling involved a years-long battle fought by Henry Li and his late partner, Edgar

Ng. After they married in London in 2017, Ng bought a subsidized flat as his matrimonial home with Li. He was concerned that if he died intestate, his properties would not be passed to Li. He passed away in 2020 after suffering years of depression. Nongovernmental organization Hong Kong Marriage Equality called on the government not to appeal the judgement. With the recent court rulings, it is clear that the right thing to do is to recognize same-sex partnerships in a comprehensive manner, it said. In a statement issued by his solicitors, Li also said he hopes the government will respect the judgement. "It added insult to injury — that the government repeatedly argued in open court I am not Edgar's husband and should be treated as a stranger to him, while I was still mourning," he said.
