

TOLD THE STORY.

Then the Boys Were Certain that He Was the Man.

In the life of Sir George Grey, one of England's explorers and statesmen, is a pleasant story of his meeting with some boys in the Natural History Museum at South Kensington. Lads and lassies were his delight.

"There is something in old age," he said, "that likes to have a young mind clinging to it." He took great pleasure in lingering at the museum and watching the stream of visitors. One day he saw half a dozen boys gathered about an interesting specimen. Presently they noticed Sir George, and a delegate approached with the request:

"Please, sir, can you tell us the name of this creature?"

Strangely enough, it was a specimen which he had sent home from Australia. He named it, and then the lad asked:

"Where did it come from?"

He told them that, and the next question came:

"Who killed it?"

A pucker gathered upon Sir George's face, and he hesitated, arguing with himself:

"If I tell them they'll think me an impostor, and perhaps discount the other information I've given them."

But the boy was waiting, and Sir George could only say: "Frankly, you know, I believe I killed it myself."

"Here, you fellow!" rang out the lad's merry voice. "He says he killed it! Did you ever?"

The other boys left the animal to stare at what they considered even a greater curiosity. They formed a half-circle about him. "Oh, yes," said Sir George. "It's quite true. Now, if you'll listen I'll tell you the whole story, and then you can decide for yourselves."

He began, and their amused incredulity vanished. They listened breathlessly, and when he finished, hats and caps were off, and they chorused: "Thank you, sir!"

It was a memorable afternoon.

FAMOUS AS A BARRISTER.

Lord Russell of Killowen, Who Died Recently.

The most famous and probably the most popular man in the legal profession in England is Lord Russell, of Killowen, lord chief justice of England, who died recently. As a barrister, Lord Russell was long without rivalry

LORD RUSSELL.

In the law courts. He was a first-class jury orator and at the same time a deep and sagacious lawyer—a combination rarely found united in one person. Numerous stories are told of the chief justice when, as plain Charles, or later as Sir Charles Russell, he made it extremely trying with distinguished witnesses in his terrible cross-examinations, or cast confusion upon his professional opponents by his biting satire or his sudden springing of a new point in law. Sir Charles appeared in some of the most famous cases at the British bar. He defended Mrs. Maybrick, in her celebrated murder trial in 1889, and appeared in the Chetwynd turf scandal case in the same year. In 1894 Sir Charles, who had been knighted in 1893, was appointed lord chief justice of England in succession to Lord Coleridge.

In 1896 Lord Russell visited the United States and was royally entertained by members of the American bar.

A Natural Conclusion.

The Philadelphia Record prints an amusing story of the late President William H. Allen of Girard College and a lady of more inquisitiveness than intelligence. On one occasion a business matter called Mr. Allen to a small town in the central part of Pennsylvania. While sitting in the parlor of the country hotel in the evening, after transacting his business, he was taken in hand by the wife of the proprietor, who wanted to know all about his private affairs.

Mr. Allen took it all in good part, and for a time was rather amused. Finally she asked:

"Have you much of a family?"

"Oh, yes," said he, and he smiled as his mind reverted to his hundreds of pupils.

"How many children?" she persisted. "Well," said Mr. Allen, with great earnestness, "I have five hundred, and all boys!"

The good lady was speechless for a moment. Then she arose, and hurrying to the door, called softly to her husband:

"O, John come in here! We've got Brigham Young stoppin' with us!"

You can never tell how little a dude knows by the height of his collar.

Refuse to Be Civilized.

China is often alluded to as a benighted region, but there is one little kingdom, the Hermit kingdom of Corea, that is entitled to the palm of darkness as far as civilization and modern progress goes. The trouble with China is that the people will not adopt systems of the foreigners, while Corea, it seems, cannot. Missionaries and others have been endeavoring to instruct the Coreans in the use of American tools, but, with all the labor involved, they prefer to do the work as their forefathers did.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Four times as much can be grown on an acre of land by the use of wheel hoes and hand seed drills than when the land is cultivated by horse power, as both the rows and the plants can be closer together. Whether the hand system will pay depends upon the kind of crops grown and the location of the farm to markets.

Righteousness Versus Rights.

The golden rule is not a "bill of rights." Rather does it represent the will to do right. In all the teaching of Christ the word "rights" finds no place; but the word "right" or "righteousness" occurs with exceeding frequency. True, no man ever did so much as Jesus to secure the rights of every member of the human race. Woman's rights, children's rights, the rights of servants and masters, the rights of the poor and the weak and the ignorant, all have found an increasingly clear recognition and respect with the spread of the gospel. Yet this has come about by the persistent inculcation of the principle of right and the equally persistent restraining of the spirit which demands "my rights."

French Style of Starting Foot Races.

In an American sprinting race the starter orders the runners on their marks, then tells them to "get ready," then calls out "set" and a couple of seconds later fires the pistol. At the Paris races the starter ordered the men on their marks, called out "attention" and fired the pistol so soon afterward that the Americans could not get into a crouching position. After the first heat or two the Americans were always set by the time attention was called and started at the word instead of pistol, thus gaining a yard or two.

A Much-Married Centenarian Turk.

In the village of Bodra a Turk named Ismail, aged 120 years, is in such good health that he frequently walks to Bartin, six hours distance, to sell eggs, for he is a poultry dealer. He has had 84 wives, the last of whom he married only a few days ago. The bride is 60 years his junior, and the marriage was celebrated with much solemnity to the sound of drums and flutes and of volleys from firearms. The whole village was en fete. The wedding procession included all the male progeny of the patriarch bridegroom, consisting of 140 sons, grandsons and great-grandsons. The number of his female progeny is not stated.

Depreciation of Money.

In 1873 a silver dollar was worth one dollar and six-tenths in gold, and in 1900 forty-five cents. Money may depreciate but there is one standard medicine, which has not changed in half a century, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It always has been the one remedy for indigestion, dyspepsia or kidney troubles.

The storage and keeping of apples is a matter of great importance where there is a large crop. The main point is to keep them cool. It is warmth, not cold, that injures them. Some one who has tried it states that apples can be kept in water at a few degrees above the freezing temperature. The majority of growers pack them in barrels and store them in a cool cellar, first picking out every imperfect specimen.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves? In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor and general debility.

How are they expelled? By Hood's Sarsaparilla

Which also builds up the system that has suffered from them. It is the best of all medicines for all humors.
