State Fair Premium List Out.

President McKinley

will stop at Salem May 22, Portland May 22. The Southern Pacific announces rate of ONE FAIR for the round trip to Salem from stations between Turner and Roseburg, and to Portland from stations between Oregon City and Roseburg. Excursion tickets will be on sale for trains arriving at Salem or Portland on the morning of May 22, and leaving same evening or following morning.

The reception exercises have been so planned as to give to as many as possible an opportunity to see and hear the President. The committee of arrangements will spare no effort to make the occasion a memorable one.

A new process, known as Lawton's has been invented for the preservation of fresh fruit in a sterilized atmosphere, by which, at or before maturity, it can be stored without suffering deterioration. By means of a fan air is forced through a stove containing red-hot coals, whereby the oxygen is consumed and the germs or animalcules are destroyed. The gases are then filtered and cooled.

For sale—A brand new 1901 Rambler "Special." Never been out of the store. A bargain. Inquire at the BULLETIN office.

The Eugene Soap Co.'s Lulu Savon brand is the cream of all laundry soaps.

Well-Dressed Girls.

White and colored wash silk shirt-waists made like ordinary cotton ones will be much worn this season.

Wide sashes of soft ribbon used as belts and ending with long ends coming to the edges of the skirts, are to be used with summer gowns.

White holds first rank this summer, as it did last, for children, young girls and young women, and for older ones also when combined with black.

Collars are made from two to three inches deep and over foundations that may be bought in all sizes. As a rule the collar is made of the dress material and trimmed as the waist is.

White lawn graduation gowns this year are trimmed with dainty needle-stitched or lace trimmed ruffles upon the skirts, the waists being tucked and hemmed, with embroidered or lace insertion set in.

Many of the parasols this season are of striped silk in white colors, and many others are of plain black and the dark shades. The sticks are long, and as a rule are less ornate than they were a year ago.—May Ladies' Home Journal.

This is the season when housecleaning begins to receive consideration. A new carpet for the parlor, sitting room or bedroom, and new matting for the kitchen and halls, add a thousand percent to the appearance of a home. You will find just what you want in this line at W. L. Wright's furniture store, and at prices that are right.

Something New.

Just published by the Southern Pacific Co. is a pamphlet upon the resources of Western Oregon, which includes an excellent map of the state, and contains information on climate, lands, education, etc., existing industries and their capabilities.

Attention is also directed to such new fields for energy or capital as promise fair return.

This publication fills a need long experienced by Oregonians, in replying to inquiries of Eastern friends.

Copies may be had of local agent S. P. Co., or from C. H. MARKHAM, G. P. A., Portland, Or.

"Success" for May draws inspiration as well as instruction from the concrete story of Pan-American triumphs, as told by the exposition at Buffalo. For example, Williams Carlton Fox, of the Bureau of American Republics, describes the path to liberty which Simon Bolivar blazed through the forests of South America in the early years of the last century, utilizing a letter from George Washington in his propaganda, and making it possible for a long line of American statesmen—Monroe, Clay, Blaine, Mariscal and Hay—to plan the all-American brotherhood which the current exposition and the forthcoming congress in the City of Mexico will foster, if not actually bring to pass. Henry Loomis Nelson begins a series of papers on "The Building of the American Nation," choosing Franklin's mission to Paris as the opening story. Mrs. Cornelia Cole Fairbanks, the newly chosen President-General of the Daughters of the American Revolution, contributes an interesting plea for the marking of neglected historic spots, this being her first literary venture. A strong symposium along characteristic "Success" lines is one on "The Kind of Young Men Employers are Looking For," by Henry Clews, Daniel G. Reid, Cyrus Edson, William R. Stewart, Chauncey M. Depew, and others. Alfred Harnsworth writes his impressions of Andrew Carnegie's philanthropy, and Mrs. Burton Harrison is the chief fiction writer in an issue which leaves a most agreeable impression upon the mind of a reader.

The Weekly Oregonian and the BULLETIN for $2 a year.

J. H. Miller invites the people of Junction and vicinity to call and see the new 1901 Rambler bicycles. If you are thinking about buying a wheel it will pay you to look at the Rambler before you make a purchase. Just notice the number of these wheels in use. That is the best advertisement it can have.

New patrons are setting their names on the pay rolls of the Junction City Creamery. There are over one hundred names on the roll at the present time. Last week over 1500 pounds of butter was churned. A new vat and a lot of new milk cans arrived from Portland for the Creamery Friday. They were badly needed, as the business of this institution is growing rapidly.
