Dozens of homeseekers are appearing before U. S. commissioner at Arlington, making entries under the homestead laws. They are improving the country, building homes and adding to the general prosperity of the country.

It will interest the farmers, readers of the Bulletin, to know Germany, in the opinion of the Vossische Zeitung, will need to import 1,500,000 tons more wheat and 700,000 tons more rye this year than last, owing to ruined harvests.

Horton Bros., Estrup, have got out cloth and cardboard signs, on which they say: "Lumber! All kinds of lumber, rough and dressed. Long timbers a specialty. Four miles west of the Ferguson place. A level road. No hills."

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody any good." The meeting of the newspaper high scribes in Buffalo gave two traveling printers an opportunity to get employment in the printeries here for a while—one in each office. They came from both ways.

Some of the trains passing through here embrace cars loaded with telegraph poles. Hobos endeavor to get in among them. When the brakies discover their whereabouts and invite them to alight, the hobos sometimes go from one car to another, and thus travel "from pole to pole."

The man with the overalls under his arm, looking for work, and the hobo with his pack of blankets on his back, drift in daily on the overland—that is they walk—illustrating: "The rich can ride in a palace car, all gilt with mahogany frame, while the man without money must go afoot, but he gets there all the same."

State Journal, Eugene: To Junction from Eugene and return is 32 miles by the county road. This distance was covered on a bicycle, in ordinary traveling, last Sunday, in 3h. 57m., counting 30 minutes for the time spent in Junction and also some time along the road. The ride was made over the river road, which was in fair condition notwithstanding the heavy rain the day previous. This road is much better than the way by Irving, and is the best wheel course in the county.

Mueller & Hill DRUGGISTS

the World held a picnic at Belle Fountain camp ground last Saturday that was very largely attended by home people and others from the surrounding country, so much so that there was barely hitching room enough to meet the requirement of the occasion. Many went over from here. There were exercises by school children, followed by contests by men—sawing wood, chopping wood, tug-o-war. Marsh Allen won on the wood-chopping. The local Woodmen won the tug.

The Bulletin has been authorized by Charles L. Austin, manager, to announce that the play: "The Rescue from San Carlos Prison" will be presented in the Opera House here on next Tuesday evening. The best Eugene talent in the dramatic line will appear in the characters with thrilling effect. It is a war drama in five acts, with special scenery and musical specialties. The orchestra is rated first class. The company has good indorsement and is well recommended. The presentation of this play in Eugene elicited commendation from all classes.

Miss Anna Oglesby left Sunday afternoon for Portland, thence to start on Monday following with the other Oregon delegates to the meeting of the National Editorial Association which opens in Buffalo, N. Y., next Monday. Her duties as correspondent of metropolitan papers have been placed to be performed in competent and reliable hands. But it is doubtful whether her specialty as Associate editor of this paper can be filled reliably and satisfactorily by the editor-in-chief, who, while 'way up on the theories of the approximate area of the mathematical circle, is free to confess he is considerably off on those delicate little subtleties that figure so prominently in connection with the sayings and doings of the social circle. Therefore, if during her absence he should get shirt waists, and lace, and things of that sort mixed up with football, how to feed your cows, etc., the readers of the Bulletin will have to do the sifting themselves and attribute the heterogeneity to the customary (so to put it) innate stupidity of the assemblymen in the lino-type department.

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than 75 per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects: such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Water-brash, Gnawing and Burning Pains at the Pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and Disagreeable Taste in the Mouth, Coming up of Food after Eating, etc. Go to Mueller & Hill's and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

A telegram received this morning from Miss Anna Oglesby, dated Glendive, Montana, said: "Nice time, weather perfect, enjoying scenery."

OUR LOSS, THEIR GAIN.

A MUSICIAN OF NOTE LEAVES US FOR ANOTHER FIELD OF USEFULNESS.

Professor J. A. Sibbets left on the Overland Saturday morning for New Westminster, British Columbia, to accept the position of leader of the City band of that place, which has a population of 25,000 people. As a musician, the professor bears an enviable reputation both at home and abroad. He is a gentleman of wide experience, in his line of artistic ability, having served five years with different army bands of the regular service and also two years in United States naval service bands. His remarkable record is shown in the fact that he has been the organizer and leader of 21 bands respectively in the Willamette valley. While in the Philippines he was leader of the Thirtieth Minnesota Voluntary Infantry band. In congratulating the people of New Westminster on having secured the services of so able a musician as Professor Sibbets, it is imperative to add there is regret at his departure from this place where his skill as a musician and his urbanity as a genial citizen will be greatly missed. But such is the penalty of fame, that when one achieves it he is called away to wider fields of usefulness and has to give the good-by shake to those who have become endeared to him by pleasant association. He now becomes the leader of one of the crack musical organizations of British Northwest Territory and will without doubt fill the bill with eclat.

"The 'horn' that once on Tara's walls the soul of music shed, Now hangs as mute on Tara's walls as tho' that soul hath fled."

A GOOD THING.

John Handsaker leaves Saturday for Des Moines, Iowa, to attend a summer school. The length of his stay is indefinite. The best wishes of a wide circle of friends go with him. He is a courteous gentleman, a sincere Christian and zealous worker for Christ.

Misses Mary and Eva Cloak, of Douglas county, who have been attending the Willamette University at Salem, arrived Monday on a visit to Rev. J. H. Skidmore and wife, and left for home Tuesday. These young ladies were at one time pupils of Rev. Skidmore.

W. H. Monroe, of the Junction City Creamery, was about actively, Wednesday, taking an interest in the Farmers' meeting. When asked how the creamery business was getting along he replied: "We are paying out today, for the month of May, something over $1100 to our patrons."

C. W. Washburn returned Tuesday from a business trip to Washington. He speaks very highly of the growth and development of that State, and says that prosperity is everywhere manifest. He enjoyed the trip very much and returned in good health and spirits. He disposed of 640 acres of land in Lincoln county at $15 per acre.

Rev. R. S. Marshal, evangelist, of Oakland, Cal., who has been conducting a protracted revival meeting here in the Methodist church, accomplishing much good, visited the Bulletin sanctum Saturday, not for the purpose of reading the Bible, though we have one on our desk, but to look over the exchanges and keep up with the procession of the events of the day. He is a genial, practical gentleman whose acquaintance is pleasant and cannot readily be forgotten. The visits of such persons are always desirable.

Lincoln County Times, Davenport, Wash., May 31: "Mr. C. W. Washburn, of Junction City, Oregon, who has owned a lot of land in Lincoln county for many years, arrived in town Wednesday for a couple of days' visit. Mr. Washburn makes a trip to the county about once every two years, and takes a lively interest in its affairs. He expresses himself as especially gratified at the remarkable growth that has taken place in town since his last visit, and the evidence of thrift to be seen on every side in passing through the country. Mr. Washburn is now quite advanced in years, though still well preserved, and is an old pioneer of Oregon, who has led a very active business life, and still enjoys getting out."

serviced, and is an old pioneer of Oregon, who has led a very active business life, and still enjoys getting out."

Roseburg Review, May 31: "J. B. Taylor, the night operator at the Southern Pacific depot, will be transferred to Junction City and placed in charge of the station at that place. A brother of L. B. Moore, the present station agent at Roseburg, will leave Junction and take the place vacated by Mr. Taylor." The facts are these: J. B. Taylor came up this week from Roseburg and took the place of Will Speer who has been the night operator here. C. H. Cowan came up from Grant's Pass last Friday and took J. W. Gilmore's place as day operator. Mr. M. E. Haara remains station agent as heretofore. His services are much prized for their efficiency. Mr. Speer will be given another location by the company.

Rev. John Handsaker visited the Bulletin office last Saturday on the outlook for a contemplated protracted revival meeting at Lancaster under the leadership of Rev. G. S. O. Humbert, pastor of the Christian church of Corvallis, it being understood that he had obtained leave of absence for that purpose. Rev. Humbert is very popular in Lancaster, as he was there a year ago last Christmas and did considerable good. The date for the revival work to commence has not been fixed. A note received contains the following: "Rev. Humbert held a short meeting at Lancaster two years ago. Since that time he has made a special study of evangelistic meetings under one of the most successful evangelists in the United States."

C. L. Smith, expert and lecturer, came in to see us yesterday afternoon. They all do it. He is a highly intelligent and cultivated gentleman but wholly unpretentious. He is a resident of Bemidji, Beltrami county, in the timbered section of Minnesota. He left home last October and has been lecturing ever since. He came out in the employ of the O. R. & N. company and remained with it four months, holding Institutes in Oregon and Eastern Washington. Since April he has been with the Southern Pacific company. He is trying to interest the farmers in the Willamette Valley in dairying and diversified farming. He arrived yesterday afternoon from Portland, spoke afternoon and evening in the Opera House and left for Stayton. He is a G. A. R. comrade, was a good soldier, tells in a lecture "The Story of the Campaign and Battle of Chickamauga," with great vigor, is an author and a highly valuable "universal" citizen. What he says to farmers takes in not only the practical in their business but also the moral, aesthetic and intellectual essentials required to be understood and practiced to make farm life ideal and what it should be in every desirable respect.
