A Word to the Public.

It may appear to some who read in the public press the great claim of the so-called "painless dentists" that these particular men have received a special dispensation of power or intelligence that enables them to do miraculous things with one's teeth at prices that are equally miraculous.

The great aim of the dental profession has always been to minimize the pain associated with dental operations and science has from time to time brought forth drugs and combinations of drugs that have aided mightily in this work.

Very recently Dr. Buckley of Chicago perfected a preparation, which is being put on the market by a reliable drug firm, which enables the dentist to practically eliminate the pain of preparing cavities for filling but the use of this is not confined to a select few, as one might judge from some dentists' ads, but will be found along with all the other proven drugs on the medicine shelf of every progressive dentist.

There is not to my knowledge any agreement as to prices between any of the dentists of Eugene or Springfield and the words "Dental Trust" are formed of air as thin and fully as hot as "Painless Dentistry."

I do my work conscientiously and well, painlessly when possible and as nearly painless as possible at all times and my fees are just to my patient and myself.

No patient ever returned to me with any work that had not given perfect satisfaction that it was not changed or settled to their satisfaction.

I have never asked that Springfield people give up their Eugene dentist who has done their work satisfactorily for many years but I do ask that Springfield people shall not be fooled, by clever advertising, into going to Eugene in the hope of receiving better service or value in dentistry.

It can't be DID.

BAPTISTS MUSTERING FOR THE YEAR'S WORK

During the Evans campaign various lines of church work at the Baptist church were suspended and all energy was turned to the special meetings. As Mr. Evans closes his work here on Sunday morning the church will again take up its regular work on Sunday evening. Plans are being carried out to make the Sunday evening service a rally service. Special music is being prepared and inspiring addresses will be made. J. H. Irish of Eugene, one of the leading Baptist laymen of the state, and others, will speak. It is hoped that all who are interested in the church will be present. Don't miss the inspiration and be among those mustering to push the work with new vim.
