And Remember to Get a Sleep-Over for Springfield.

Springfield, Oregon, Thursday, February 14, 1913.

ADVERTISE SPRINGFIELD.

The Springfield Development League, at its meeting Tuesday evening, spent a considerable portion of its time discussing the possibilities of advertising Springfield, during the coming winter when so many tourists are going to be on the streets. Springfield, during the winter months, is no less a tourist city than any other of the Northwest, and at the same time a beautiful, healthful, and healthful place to visit.

WASHINGTON, D.C., February 13, 1913.

WONDERFUL, and one of the most interesting of the objects which will be on view at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition next spring, is the Glass Dome of the Palace of Agriculture. This is an oval structure, 430 feet long by 220 feet wide, and its walls are composed of glass. The entire dome is supported by a series of large columns, each of which is 30 feet in height, and the top of the building is 74 feet above the ground.

The dome is intended to serve as a show-case for the products of the different states and countries, and it will be used by the great expositions. The dome itself is to be made of the finest materials, and will be roofed with a glass roof. The entire structure is to be completed by the end of February.

The dome will be erected on the site of the old Palace of Agriculture, and will be the largest building of its kind in the world. The dome will be illuminated by electric light, and will be a great tourist attraction.

The dome will be open to the public every day, and will be a great attraction for tourists. The dome will be completed by the end of February, and will be open to the public every day.
