The Author of "The Human Family Delineated as It Is, and Not As It Appears"

Who lectures here Tuesday night has been likened unto the Lightning Calculator in mathematics because of his SHORT CHARGES or CONTRIVANCES?

In his peculiar manner he displays wonderful manifestations of his genius.

His lectures are scientific, instructive and edifying, not only enabling “MAN TO KNOW THYSELF” but:

KNOW HIS NEIGHBOR ALSO.

An irreproachable host of a house, shrewdly fitted for an unobtrusive cause of the MANY FAILURES."

The Country Ready For It
Interesting. In view of the state's sovereignty argument against a prohibition amendment to the federal constitution, it is to be noted that of the 187 votes in Congress favoring the Hines resolution 97 were cast by southern members. Eleven of the sixteen southeastern states voted in its support, some unanimously, others by a majority vote. Of the 166 representatives of the United States, 52 ares from the South, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Florida, Virginia 64, favored it in favor of, 24 against, and most of them not voting were paired for the amendment. Taking the states at large, as represented in the House, the vote stands thus: Eighteen states solidly for the amendment, eight states against it, and two so uncertainly for, one as a majority against the resolution. Each state, therefore, is in the hands of the legislatures as to the question of the ratification, and, we believe, it is the duty of the people of those states, and the whole country, carefully to weigh the importance of the local constitutional question. We believe, with the Chicago Tribune, that the people of the nation must be the judges of the subject upon the filtration and fate of the amendment, and that the people of those states who have discretion, must decide for the nation whether the amendment shall or shall not be ratified.

"Demand and Supply."
"You can't cut the demand by cutting off the supply," says Mr. Barlforth of Missouri, known as the brewers' speaker in Congress. "It will be always as large as the capitalists can manufacture. Even if American citizens were such slaves to drink as Mr. Barlforth would have us believe, as a nation we could not be responsible for the legalized liquor trade with all its ravages and abstractions. Better to destroy the demand, making the supply than, as now, the supply making the demand. Mr. Barlforth has jeopardized the saloon, and, in fact, any saloon in a residence district, a majority of the voters therein must cast a petition for it. Under this provision forty-eight square miles of the city is dry territory and about four hundred thousand of the population live under prohibition. Not so bad for Chicago!"

A fact to be noted is that many of the brewery and distillery families have moved out of the neighborhood.

PORTO RICO HOMESTEADS TO SPRINGFIELD

First of all, I will give you an idea about Porto Rico. Porto Rico is in the torrid zone and like all of that region in the torrid zone enjoys a continual summer. The days are warm but not oppressive, and the nights are cool. In such towns as Luces, Marigot, and Aibonos, the weather is so cool during the month of January and February that woolen clothes may be worn with comfort.

There is really only one sea port in Porto Rico, namely, San Juan. This is due in the fact that the sun is almost directly overhead and its rays fall almost directly vertically during the entire year. Many places which are under the vertical rays are very hot and intolerable.

The climate of Porto Rico is not extremely hot because the island is small and mountainous and has much vegetation, because of this the coolness from the northeast blows continually across the inland areas, itches the trade winds blow in the same direction to your sound.

Superintendents put on a show, and meet the patrons to attend the literary meeting at the high school Saturday night and the superintendents program at the fair. This is coming up this evening.

The constant, the teacher of manual training, had an exhibit showing the work in various classes under his direction.

The table was a fancy cake, fruit, and game boards, the different forms of surface painting and scoring of boards. This work is taken up in the seventh grade.

Eight grade boys exhibited book holders and tie rooks to show the simpler forms of joining, and the high school boys exhibit showed keywork mortises and tenons, gluing, and blind mortise work.

The show was all done from plans drawn to scale by the students on drawing sheets, one hour a week and the shop practice three hours.

Vernon Meeks Confesses to Drawing Paper Used in Springfield

Vernon Meeks, aged 17 years, living at Springfield Junction, was arrested in Springfield Thursday evening by Chief of Police Stangler on a charge of passing bad checks. The young man confessed and was ordered before Sheriff Parker that evening. One check for $9 00, signed by the name of W. C. Myers, a farmer living near Hayden Bridge, was presented in Hayden & Meets for an electric flash light. Another check for $19, signed with the name of W. C. Beck, who is supposed to live near Spencer Creek, was cashed by Gilbert Miller from Meeks. Meeks produced a pair of spurs. Both the flash light and the spurs were found on the young man when he was searched.

The hope and posses given up before Judge Harry L. Brown, of the juvenile court, who was present, was 20 days on probation. The Judge advised Meeks to give the chance to make good, instead of having to go to jail he had agreed to pay back the money he had obtained by passing the bad checks. He is a high school student and has previously had a good record.

The boy was ordered to behave himself during that time and that he straighten up and show his disposition to do what is right and try to keep out of trouble hereafter the case will probably be dismissed.

In 1905 there were 2,000,000 persons residing in territory in which the sale of liquor was prohibited. In 1910 the number had increased to 18,000,000. In 1915 the number had doubled, reaching 42,000,000, and today it is more than 50,000,000.

LAUNDRY IN DANGER

J. W. Baker of the Springfield laundry house has a day he calls Censor. Since the municipal law has been in effect requiring their dogs to keep off the streets, Gor- don has been tied up in a call in the laundry. Now just after a fire had been started in the store, one of the attendants smoked a pipe but could not locate the source of the smoke. The dog was watched during that time and it straightened up and showed its disposition to do what is right and try to keep out of trouble hereafter the case will probably be dismissed.

The Good Judge and the Phantom Doctor

I now note the season that makes me think of my lost style. I have no style and I don't think I ever had any. I don't care what you think of me, only what you feel. I don't care what you feel, only what you do. I only care about one thing, and that is what you do. I only care about one thing, and that is what you do.
