

MISS PEGGY O'NEIL AS 'PEG' IN OLIVER MOROSCO'S SUPREME SUCCESS, "PEG O' MY HEART," WHICH COMES TO THE EUGENE THEATRE WEDNESDAY, MARCH 24.

The J. Hartley Manners' comedy of youth, love and laughter, "Peg O' My Heart" comes to the Eugene theatre Wednesday, March 24.

"Peg" tells a story of a struggle for supremacy between the homely virtues of a self-reliant miss and the stilted aristocracy in which much excellent comedy is evolved with Peg ever the central figure. There is the rattling of the Chichester families' skeleton, with whom Peg has left her father in America to come to, and the acceptance of Peg for a thousand pounds annuity by the Chichesters in accordance with a will left by an uncle of Peg's and a brother of Mrs. Chichester, for the bringing up of Peg as a lady. Peg's father was an improvident Irish socialist whom Peg's mother had married, leaving a fine home to travel through Ireland and America in poverty, and in consequence is disowned by her family and ignored during the rest of her life. Her brother lying on his death bed relents and he leaves everything he has to Peg if she is reared according to his wishes. The Chichesters whom he has requested to listen to the reading of his will are just finishing the reading of the morning papers which announce the failure of the bank with all of their funds when Hawkes, the attorney, arrives to make known to them the contents of the will which states that Peg is to get everything, in view of the fact that they are well provided for. The sum set aside for her education is a thousand pounds per annum, which, due to the bank failure, the Chichesters decide to undertake. The are only after the money and have little or no interest in the little girl who keeps the roof over their heads. The natural conclusion follows in which Peg remodels the entire family viewpoint instead of her accepting the artificial life in which they live. At the Eugene Theatre, Wednesday, March 24. Seats 50c, $1, $1.50 and $2.

Struck Him Unfavorably
Mr. Gaswell, who had come recently into the possession of a considerable fortune, had decided to erect a large office building, and was discussing the plans with an architect. "As to the floors, now," said the architect, "you would want them in mosaic pattern, I presume?"

"I don't know about that," responded Mr. Gaswell, dubiously, scratching his jaw. "I hain't got any prejudice against Moses as a man, and he certainly knowed a good deal about law; but when it comes to laying floors, it kind o' seems to me I'd rather have 'em unsectarian like. Don't it strike you that way?"

Good Stories and Useful Information.

In two things The Youth's Companion is first and foremost—capital stories and useful information. There are stories for boys that delight their fathers, stories for girls that charm their mothers. There are stories that make you hold your sides, and stories that move you to tears. And it is a liberal education to read what The Companion offers you in sound, practical, trustworthy information. All of it—fiction and information—is chosen and printed with the one aim of leaving the reader better and wiser, if possible, than he was before. Hundreds of thousands of readers will cheerfully say that of The Companion. How many periodicals can honestly say that of themselves? Only a handful. Test the matter for yourself. Send for sample copies. Better yet, send $2.00 for the 52 issues of the coming year. You won't regret it.

The right blend of rich, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

That's why it gives you the tobacco comfort and solace that you like so well.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding an ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The tests of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.
