Oregon Commission Offers Suggestions as to Eating Sleeping Accommodations at Exposition

Oregon Building, Panama-Pacific Exposition, San Francisco, July 1.—With a little care, Oregonians coming to the Exposition will find it possible to make a stay here at no excessive cost. Down in the city good rooms at average hotels can be had at $1.00 to $2.50 per night, and rooms in boarding houses and homes at $5 to $10 per week. Restaurant prices are not beyond the usual and at cafeterias good food can be had at very reasonable prices. At the latter places, for everything except meat, five and ten cents is the price for the average dish. There is an excess of rooms and eating places, the crowds not yet having overflowed the city. For those who feel the need of apartments, one and two rooms with kitchenette and private bath range from $22.50 to $50.00, at thoroughly respectable and up-to-date apartment houses within a short street car ride of the Exposition or city.

On the Exposition grounds prices are a little more strenuous in spots, but visitors meet this situation pretty largely by bringing their lunches with them and the very best of people do not scorn to do this. The Y. W. C. A. cafeteria occupies a building all its own and is the popular eating place within the gates. Here one can pick out a reasonably good meal for fifty cents or less, and for light lunches is ideal. However, at the M. J. B. Coffee Parlor, ham, eggs, bread, butter and coffee are obtainable at forty cents. Waffles and coffee cost 25 cents. The Zone is filled with eating places, cabarets and restaurants offering food at all prices. "Hot dog" sandwiches and coffee joints are everywhere, and the combination can be had for twenty cents.

In the Food Products Building it is possible to get light lunches and tea for about twenty-five cents, and tea houses serving tea and rice cakes at fifteen cents are everywhere.

There is but one hotel on the grounds, "Inside Inn." Rooms here without bath range from

FRUIT NEEDED TO KEEP UP EXHIBIT

Oregon Building Panama Pacific Exposition San Francisco, July 1.—While Oregon has won the grand prize and a score of others on the horticultural display in the Palace of Horticulture, it is well to remember that there are other great horticultural prizes to win, prizes that Oregon can not afford to lose. However, these can not be captured unless growers will cooperate heartily with the officials at this end of the line throughout the summer and autumn. For instance, each Saturday awards are made on fresh fruit, and at the end of the season the grand prize will be awarded. In this contest Oregon is more or less handicapped, of course, on account of the distance, but experts here say that Oregon actually has the fruit and it is purely a matter of getting that fruit here in the most perfect condition. Oregon growers are urged to make shipments of such fruit as they know to be very fine, but they are also urged to pack it very carefully. The cherries, strawberries and other small fruits should be more carefully sorted and packed a little more scientifically. The expert who packs all the California fruit says Oregon cherries are packed too loosely and that the double pack should be used, that not a stem or a hole would show. All fresh fruit should reach the Palace of Horticulture not later than Friday afternoon. Shipments of materials for the maintenance of the fine exhibits in the Oregon building should also be of the best. The Oregon building's exhibit booths create a decidedly favorable opinion on the visitors and should be maintained in their present splendid condition.

That the Portland milk should have won the grand prize in the international milk contest is still the talk of the Exposition. The score cards show that the Oregon exhibit was very low on bacteria, perfect in acidity, fine in fat, perfect in solids not fat, and perfect in appearance. 140 bottles of the winning exhibit are on display at the Oregon building for a time and the showing is the subject of much comment.

$3 per night upward, according to location; with bath, $5.00 and upward. Breakfast is served at 75 cents straight, other meals a la carte. Patrons here must pay the 50 cents daily admission to the grounds, but, unlike all others who attend the Fair, these have a permit to leave and enter as they choose.

As a matter of general information, many Oregonians will be glad to know that hotel, room, or apartment accommodations can be secured at the Ferry Building, and that street cars leading to all parts of the city and direct to the Exposition circle in front of the Ferry building. From there to the Exposition, the "D" car is the most popular. It is direct and lands one at the main or Scott street entrance. At the Oregon building every possible information about the grounds is available at the central booth, and special effort is made to render Oregonians every needed service, as well as to make the visit of everyone to the building as pleasant as possible. Regular at the Oregon building's central booth on your first visit and ask such questions as you may desire, also secure booklet detailing the facts about Oregon exhibits in this building and in the main palaces.
