

THE COPPER HAS REASONS FOR QUICK ACTION.

JUST because you want tobacco satisfaction is no reason why you need to put a big wad in your cheek and then have to grind on it.

A small chew of the Real Tobacco Chew will satisfy you. The glad news spreads from friend to friend.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!!
W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED. RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

VALUE OF MUSIC IN THE HOME

(From the Grange Bulletin)

Americans are too apt to think of the word value, only in connection with dollars and cents. Alas, for the man whose object is to accumulate material things. He is no better off than the beggars whose only aim is to live from hand to mouth. We were all placed here so to pass our days, with actions which will make every moment richer in beauty. And the master minds tell us, that real happiness comes when we cultivate our sense of the beautiful.

On the other hand it is now generally known that our health and happiness suffer from suppression of the emotions. The best example of perfect health and overflowing joy and activity is found in little children from one to four years of age. During this stage their emotions have full play.

They shout with laughter whenever the impulse prompts, or burst into a flood of tears when their feelings are wounded. Like the birds they sing if they feel happy. Now if children like "grown ups" suppressed their emotions, they could not for a moment be so plump and rosy and full of fun.

So although custom and etiquette teaches to the contrary, let us follow nature's plan and give outward expression to all of our pent up feelings. And we have no better medium of expression than music. Through the use of music we can keep alive the emotions that mean so much to our health and happiness.

There is no place like home in which to express all emotions. And there are times even in the best of homes when the tension becomes tight. Every member of the family feels secretly the nervous strain. Mother is weary of darning and cooking, the business wrinkle in father's forehead is deepening, sister is finding life humdrum and the boys are growing tired of the old place. Sister finds an old song book called, Old Tunes and Melodies, and sits down to the old battered piano to try some of them. Soon father looks at mother and mother looks at him. Why that is a piece they sang together at the little singing school just 23 years ago. They smile, provoked by memories and the knot in their thread of life is untied. Brother stops his nervous whistle and goes over to try the tenor part. Soon they are gathered around the piano, sing or hum together till that pent up feeling has gone and they retire for the night—relaxed in mind and body and with a feeling of unity. Next day the dishes are done to a rollicking tune. The hoe was not heavy for it kept time to a tune running through your mind. Can any one deny that music had no value in that home? But you say "This is the Ideal" in our home no one plays, no one sings, we even lack an instrument. If that lamentable fact be true then let us set about to better conditions. If here is no instrument get one if possible. If we can have no instrument or lessons, then let us have a mechanical player of some sort. Money spent for a good graphophone is well invested, let me plead with you to buy only the best records. Bad music like bad books is better left alone. Better no music than bad music.

But there is so much good music in this big world we can have it. And after a trying days work if we can be at home in our favorite chairs and listen to records of some of the world's greatest musicians, we will be stimulated and refreshed. But if we even lack funds for a talking machine let us still remember that God gave each of us a voice. Very few people can sing well, but all can sing. Some of the notions that have given us our greatest music and musicians have a custom of community the words of all the folks songs in their language. That requires no instrument, no instruction, no talent, just a family circle. We have such beautiful folk songs, it would be worth while to commit them. Think of America, Dixie Land, Home Sweet Home, Old Folks at Home, Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep, Old Oaken Bucket, Annie Laurie, Auld Lang Syne, and then some of those grand old hymns, Coronation, Lead Kindly Light and hundreds of others just as full of harmony. Let us learn them and above all sing them in our homes. Homes where in all the boys and girls are present at the hour of retiring to join in a song are not the homes that are grieving over some loved one following a life of sin in after years. Take the farmer's problem of keeping his boys and girls at home.

The immigration to the cities has been enormous and unhealthy. How is it to be stopped? The only answer is to make the intellectual, physical and artistic life on the farm more stimulating and more attractive. That music is destined to play a most important part in doing this can be readily seen. Saloons, dance halls, questionable resorts of all description found in cities always have the best music available. Why? Because they know people will come to hear. Most men and women spend a great part of their lives earning and living and it seems a necessity that music should enter their lives largely and constantly in their homes of relaxation, in order their lives may not be merely animal. The person who tries to do without music blots one of his God given privileges. The following clipping from a musical magazine tells us the benefit of singing to health.

If you can stir up a little special enthusiasm before Mr. Callison's arrival, by special meeting or otherwise, it will help wonderfully in the net results. Also if your committee will be all primed, and ready to suggest persons to be called upon it will save valuable time.

All contributions are being paid in cash or in checks made payable to the Lane County Exposition Fund; not to any individual.

This is the whole story, except that when you meet Mr. Callison you will understand why we speak with conviction when we say that the entire fund will be raised, and raised within the time allotted.

The Healthful Benefits of Singing.

The value of singing from the mere physical standpoint is now becoming more and more recognized by physicians. Albert B. Bach, in his Principles of Singing, tells us, "The regular daily practice of singing strengthens not only the lungs and the voice, but the whole constitution. The deaf and dumb have therefore a defective development of the thorax and the voice and are disposed to consumption, and the greater part of them depart from this life in their youthful days, after the breaking of their voice. Dr. Meissner gives a list of fifty-one pupils who died at the Leipzig Deaf and Dumb Institution; in forty-nine cases the cause of death is given, and in not less than thirty-two of these the cause was disease of the lungs."

"Not only for technical but also for sanitary reasons should children from their seventh year sing daily vocal exercises within the compass of a sixth or octave. The earlier in life a child begins to sing, the more easily and sooner does he widen his thorax, the parts of which are in childhood cartilaginous, and therefore especially capable of expansion. The organs of the voice have also at the early age the greatest flexibility and pliancy: through deep inspirations and full expirations they strengthen the inner parts, and the development of the inner organs is as important for the health as that of the external ones. Physicians have therefore recommended singing at an early age as a remedy against consumption."

And so in summing up these few poorly arranged facts, we find that music has a very great value in the home in that—it binds the members of the home circle more closely together, helps to keep younger members in that home circle, gives pleasure to all, is healthful and helps all in soul development. What more could we ask. Music, God's gift to men. The only art of heaven given to earth. The only art of earth we take to heaven.

FARMERS OF AMERICA PREPARE TO FEED WORLD

Record Acreages For All Principal Crops Planted.

Washington, July 8.—American farmers, confronted with feeding the world while Europe is at war, have planted record acreages of all principal crops. Moreover, official estimates made public today by the department of agriculture disclose prospects of production exceeding the average of the last six years in almost every important crop.

Based on the growing conditions on July 1, some food-stuffs crops give promise of new records. Their money values promise records accordingly.

Corn, greatest and most valuable of all American farm products, shows an area of 109,273,000 acres—half a million more than ever planted to that crop before—and is expected to produce 2,814,000,000 bushels. Despite wet and cold weather for seven weeks which has retarded growth and cultivation in the important corn states and forced the condition 3.5 per cent below the ten year average, the new crop nevertheless, is estimated to be 106,000,000 bushels greater than the last ten years average and 141,000,000 greater than last year's production.

The outlook for the billion bushels wheat crop yield continues to grow. Latest estimates raise the prospective production to 963,000,000 bushels, an increase of thirteen million bushels since the last estimate. Winter wheat, however, shows a 9.7 per cent drop in condition which reduces its prospective production 8,000,000 bushels. That is ascribed to rains in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma. Other states were reported the same or better than a month ago. The Hessian fly's depredations are not reflected in the June report.

Those reports now at hand in the department of agriculture, show that corn, winter wheat, oats, white and sweet potatoes and rice are growing on record acreages.
