NOTICE

ARE YOU HONEST?

If you hold a man up at the point of a gun and take all he has, are you honest?

If you break in to his house and take everything you can lay hands on are you honest?

If you buy anything and don't intend to pay for it are you honest?

Or if your intentions are good, but you keep on spending your money, keep on running your automobile and let your debts run too, are you honest?

If you don't like to answer this last question yourself we can answer it for you: YOU ARE NOT.

You are withholding from the laborer his just wage.

Or if you bought sundries that were sold at a profit based on a cash sale, are you giving him a square deal when you let him pay interest on this money for a year or more, providing he can get it at all.

Or if you get new parts, for which the dealer is not agent, he pays C. O. D. in full, turns them over to you at the same price without even a charge for his trouble. Can you show us the difference between this and handing you so much cash?

You take this money enjoy your automobile-ride and probably spend more money in other easy ways, while he can grow gray hairs wondering how he is going to make ends meet.

Can you look a man square in the eye and say you are honest even though you tell him, he will get his money (maybe sometime).

Will you blame him, or yourself, if some fine day an unwelcome caller sees you and tells you that your goods and chattels are attached until you pay this debt?

Be a man, if you can't pay for your ride, walk, otherwise take the consequences and don't blame anyone but yourself. Get busy or we will.
