Dollar Day Is All for You

The merchants of Springfield are staging Dollar Day next Saturday, September 9. They have been busy for several days already studying on the numbers of bargains they will have to offer to the throngs of people that will be in Springfield on Dollar Day. There will be many beautiful and attractive window displays. It will be worth your while to walk down town through the business section and see the many attractive bargains that will be shown in the windows so that you may have your selections made before the rush.

This occasion is not going to be one in which every merchant is trying to unload his shoddy and out of date goods. Of course last year's goods will sell at a lower price than the newest styles. The furnishing and clothing stores have received their new fall goods and they will have them on display so that you can decide and purchase your new winter clothes.

Every store will be dressed up in holiday array and will look its best. Every clerk will be on hand ready to attend to your wants and to help you to find the best bargains there are offered in each of the many stores and business houses that are lined up to make this Dollar Day a great success.

Read the ads and see if you ever heard of better real bargains than these offered in this issue of the News. There are other Dollar Days in other towns, but remember before you let go of those hard earned Dollars to compare the advertisements for the Dollar Days in other towns and then you will be satisfied that the Springfield merchants are the best ever. Trade at home.
