CHINESE REVOLUTIONARY HERO'S MEMORY HONORED

Scrolls Sent by Three of Late Yuan Shih Kai's Sons to Commemorate Patriotism.

Shanghai.—Scrolls sent by three of the late Yuan Shih Kai's sons to commemorate the patriotism of General Tsai Ao were the most unusual feature of the funeral services for the revolutionary leader conducted here on the arrival of his body from Japan.

General Tsai Ao was the chief mover in the Yunnan revolution, which defeated Yuan Shih Kai's ambition to become emperor. Yuan Ko Ting, the oldest son of Yuan Shih Kai, was especially ambitious for his father to become emperor that he might succeed to the throne. But practically all the younger sons were opposed to the monarchical movement. The scroll sent to Shanghai by Yuan Ko Wen, the second son of Yuan Shih Kai, commends the lamented General Tsai Ao in the highest terms. It says:

You were a model of the people. You were the model of the army. You were the soul of the republic. You were the spirit of liberty.

The American navy took a prominent part in the Tsai Ao funeral services. The Brooklyn and the other American warships in Shanghai harbor had their flags at half staff as the Chinese warship bearing the body came into port, and a detachment of fifty American marines marched in the funeral procession. Thirty Japanese, mostly personal friends and admirers of the patriot, also were in the procession.

The Chinese community in Shanghai was in mourning, and thousands of young Chinese, mostly students at schools and colleges, were in the procession. The body of General Tsai Ao was taken to his native province of Hunan for burial.

COURT EQUIPS CUPID'S BOWER

Chicago Judge Battles Divorce by Fitting Up a Room For Spooning.

Chicago.—Husbands and wives who allow their troubles to reach the court of domestic relations will be given an opportunity to "make up" in a little room attached to the court which is being fitted up for that purpose by Judge John Steik. The judge has not given the room a name yet, but he said it will be fitted up in a way aimed to aid the disgruntled in renewing their love for one another. Plants, flowers, "candy birds," a music box and soft draperies will contribute to the furnishings.

"The purpose of the fittings will be to bring out the old affection that the couple held for each other when they were courting," said the judge. "It is my purpose to get them to spoon all over again and then go home and live as they ought to."

Dear Gores Cattle.

Estey, W. Va.—A large deer appeared in a pasture near here in which there were a large number of cows owned by W. L. Huffman and defeated the cattle in a pitched battle, goring several of them to such an extent that they later died. The deer was captured and killed by a posse.

HANGING EXERCISE RESULTS IN DEATH

Chicago.—The body of Mrs. Charles B. Young was found hanging in her home in Riverside, a Chicago suburb. A verdict of accidental death was returned when relatives asserted that health exercises, including hanging by the shoulders, had been prescribed and that while following her physician's instructions she evidently had fainted or slipped.

SMILE CURES MIND

Fiancee Helps to Lift Veil When Science Fails.

REASON SLOWLY RETURNS.

Detroit Man Proves Puzzle to Physicians After Partial Asphyxiation in Auto—Sweetheart, in Same Hospital, is Wheeled into His Ward, and Eyes Brighten For First Time.

Detroit, Mich.—A sweetheart's smile won where science failed. The smile lured back a wandering mind that all the little bottles, all the gleaming instruments and all the solemn books had failed to cure.

The case of Arthur Connor, twenty-eight years old, puzzled physicians for days after he was taken to Grace hospital suffering from a form of gas asphyxiation induced by inhaling gasoline fumes from his automobile. He slept for hours, a calm, deep sleep, with normal pulse and respiration, but a sleep that could not be driven out. When it did lift its veil for a few minutes at a time it was found his mind had somehow slipped in its delicate mechanism, and Connor muttered and chattered of things foreign and unconnected with reason.

They dug in his spine and brewed serums, and they tapped with inquisitive fingers and touched the nerves with the wizard flow of electricity and the veins with the gleaming hypodermic. In vain all these things—and then came the cure, a greeting smile and a cheery "Good morning" from the girl he is to marry.

Nellie Winters, dark haired and brown eyed, sought her fiance, knowing something had happened to prevent the filling of an engagement. She found him after a long search lying in his car in the garage, asleep. He had sat down to rest, and the fumes had overcome him and started the long slumber. But the hunt through the cold day had wrought another misfortune, and Miss Winters found herself threatened by pneumonia in the same hospital with Connor.

She grew better, and, once able to sit in a wheel chair, she demanded to be taken to the side of her sweetheart. They wheeled her in just as one of the moments of his consciousness came. And the eyes that had been filled with vague dreamings suddenly cleared, and the girl's smile and glad greetings found an answer.

"Hello, Nellie! Gee, it's too bad we are both sick in the same place." It was almost the first rational words he had uttered. The veil fell again, but the doctors had found a key to the mystic door and hope for a complete recovery.

BECOMES A MOTHER AT 62.

Woman Wedded to Young Man Has a Baby in Her Old Age.

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Fifty-eight years years old? My dear boy, they said that about me four years ago when I went to Kenosha with Albert to be married where our friends could not make too much of a hubbub about a disparity in our ages. They said then that he was twenty-five and I was fifty-eight. What of it? Love knows no years."

Thus spoke Mrs. Balone Manzke, a mother at sixty-two or thereabouts, as she fondled the baby girl which some time ago came to their home in Milwaukee to gladden the declining years of the mother and to rejoice the heart of the youthful husband. And it was a real motherhood that Mrs. Manzke portrayed as she played with her own baby, a mother with her hair showing the advance of years in its suggestion of gray.

Four years ago the couple went from Zion City to Kenosha to be married. The husband is an expert chemist in a Milwaukee laboratory which specializes on perfumery.

JERSEY TEACHER A HEROINE.

Prevents Panic Among 150 Children; Fights Fire in School.

Paterson, N. J.—Miss Bertha Ruth, a teacher in public school annex No. 4, in the basement of St. Stanislaus' Polish Catholic church, Garfield, by cool action prevented a panic among the 150 children and also saved the church from destruction by fire when Stephen Westcombe mischievously dropped a match into a hole in one of the partitions.

When smoke issued from the opening there was a stir and the pupils in Miss Ruth's class moved uneasily. "Be calm, children," said Miss Ruth without the slightest touch of emotion, "and file quietly into the yard."

Her command was obeyed, and the children quickly left the room. Then Miss Ruth notified the teachers in the other classes to dismiss the pupils. The children thought it was a fire drill and moved out in order, the whole annex being emptied in half a minute.

BOMB BY MAIL BLINDS YOUTH.

Plainfield Youth Thought Can Was Powder From Friend.

Plainfield, Conn.—Joseph Emil Seigny, a young Frenchman who lives here, received a can of powder through the mail. After shaving he started to shake some of it out, thinking it was alum. It wasn't. It was an infernal device, which exploded, lacerating his face and blinding both eyes. Seigny knows of no one who would wish to kill him, he says. Investigation by the police showed powerful explosives, steel fragments and coarse sandpaper were in the can. The package was postmarked Taftville.
