Planting Time

Springtime is planting time. Buds are swelling, birds are singing. Nature into life is springing; Sunshine warm and balmy breeze. Just the one for planting trees.

Springtime is planting time. Plant with lavish hand and tender. They shoot and sapling slender. On the highway, round the home. Restful shade in days to come.

Springtime is planting time. Make your home a lower of beauty. There's no higher, holier duty. Plant for shelter, fruit and bloom. Coolness, health and sweet perfume.

Springtime is planting time. Oh, what joy to see things growing While the vernal airs are blowing! What a privilege to be Intimate with flower and tree. —F. L. Brace in Tree Talk

PLAN AN AIR PATROL FROM EIGHT STATIONS

Dirigibles and Seaplanes at Each For Coast Work—Scout Boat Preparations.

A joint army and navy board is studying the Atlantic and gulf coasts preparatory to the establishment of eight aeronautic stations which, besides having two dirigibles and six or eight seaplanes each for aerial patrol work, probably will serve as bases for the new 110 foot coast scout boats, of which the navy will order more than 100 in a few days.

Sixteen dirigibles and a sufficient number of seaplanes already have been contracted for, and officers and men for the air service are being selected to be sent to the station at Pensacola, Fla., for training. A school dirigible for the station is about ready for delivery.

The eight stations will be distributed along the coasts to cover strategic areas to be determined by the board. Each will require six officers and forty men. The only station site already definitely selected is that at Coco Solo, near Colon, canal zone, for which an appropriation of $1,500,000 to establish a joint aviation and submarine base was asked of the last congress. The project is expected to go through at the coming special session. Funds for the other stations will also be sought at that time, but the department has emergency appropriations sufficient to begin the work at once. The dirigibles are to be delivered within four months.

At present no stations for the Pacific coast are being prepared, although the chain of coast patrol bases will be extended along the entire coast line as rapidly as machines can be obtained and men trained.

The immediate plans require in the next four months the training in handling dirigibles of fifty officers and 350 men at Pensacola. Crews for the seaplanes are already under training, but their number will have to be increased largely without delay.

In providing boats to aid in the task of guarding the coasts navy experts would prefer a standard type 130 foot steel boat for patrol and submarine chasing work, but in the interest of speedy construction have determined on 110 footers with wooden hulls, so that builders of wooden boats can share in the work. Orders will be placed later for some small submarine chasers ranging from fifty to eighty-five feet in length.

ARMING NO EASY TASK.

It Takes Time and Hard Work to Fit Merchant Ships For Defense.

The arming of a ship for defense is no small task. It is not merely a matter of slinging a gun into place at the stern and bolting it to the deck. Decks are not strong enough to carry a gun of the type which is nowadays being mounted on merchantmen. Such a gun, if fired from the unsupported foundation of a ship's deck, would probably be carried right through the deck, bolts and all, by the force of its recoil and would do almost as much harm as a hostile torpedo. Therefore a complex steel framework, riveted far down into the frame of the ship, comprising many tons of stout structural steel, must be fitted into place.

Deck space must be cleared to give the gun a clear sweep in all directions. Everything possible must be done to assist efficiency and rapidity of action, for here is a matter where minutes and even seconds count heavily. Then there must be provided quarters for the gun crew handy to the gun and convenient space for the storage of ammunition.

BRITISH USING A NEW GUN.

Germans Think It Is Pneumatic—Shell Does Great Damage.

The German correspondents on the western front report that the British are using a new type of gun and shell. The gun appears to be pneumatic, as it makes no noise when fired and can therefore be used from points very close to the front.

The shell which it carries bursts with an explosion resembling that of a mine, and the destructive area of the burst is large. It is chiefly used against deep dugouts and trench positions.

Efficiency.

A New York department store speeds up the loading of its delivery wagons by running its autos inside of the building and transporting them to various floors on large elevators. Expensive and unnecessary stock handling is thus prevented by loading the trucks directly.
