THE FARM SHOULD PAY THIS YEAR

Thirty additional days of spring planting may mean for the Pacific Northwest the difference between a discouragingly small harvest and an encouragingly large one. The situation is growing more satisfactory every day. There will be more land farmed in Lane county this year than there has been put under the plow for a generation. This county is only typical of all counties in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

The wheat prospects for the whole country this spring are decidedly small. A survey made by the Federal government indicates that the United States would have very little if any more than enough for her own needs. The allies are depending on us for their food supply and a crop shortage would mean an international disaster.

The lateness of the spring will enable many farmers to reseed or to sow additional acres to grain. Many districts are reseeding to insure a full crop. All efforts must be made to duplicate the large 1916 crop and to even surpass the harvest of last year.

There are two factors in cultivating every available acre that is causing worry to many farmers—money and seed. Not a single acre should be let fallow because the owner cannot buy seed for it. In Nebraska, the elevator interests have furnished seed at prices below market quotations in order to have every acre yield a harvest. Bankers and merchants cooperated to finance the purchase of seed, where the farmers needed such assistance.

At a time when every acre's product will count toward winning this war every banker and merchant should do his part in increasing the yield. Farming will pay this year not only in the Willamette Valley but in all America. Every acre that produces a crop will mean that much added to the prosperity of the community. The man who tills every available foot of ground this year is not only a patriot, but he is also a good business man.

Uncle Sam paid Russia about two cents an acre for Alaska. Last year it yielded $16,000,000 worth of gold and $40,000 in copper besides many other products. Some real estate speculation, that!

How about those parkings and front yards? Don't let this May sunshine make the grass grow too high and get a lead on your lawn-mowers. A clipping now may save nine—in June.

Whooping Cough
One of the most successful preparations in use for this disease is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. S. W. McClinton, Blandon Springs, Ala., writes, "Our baby had whooping cough as bad as most any baby could have it. I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it soon got him well." Obtainable everywhere.
