TITLES OF THE ROMANOFFS.

Alexander III. Was Proud to Be Called the Peasant Emperor.

The late czar of Russia is now known as Nicholas Romanoff in the great land over which he held autocratic sway. It is not the title by which he expected to go down to posterity.

M. de Biowitz, the famous correspondent of the London Times at Paris, was responsible for putting on record a story regarding Alexander III, the father of Nicholas, which is worth recalling in this connection. The czar and his courtiers had been discussing by what added title he should be known in history. His father had been called Alexander the Liberator and Alexander the Martyr. What should the son be called? "Alexander the Just," suggested one. "Oh, no," replied the czar. "I am and shall remain the peasant emperor. So some of my nobility have styled me in derision, scoffing at my affection for the moujik. But I accept the title as an honor. I have tried to procure for the humble the means of livelihood, and this, I think, is the best and only means of keeping the world going. . . . My greatest ambition is to deserve to bear to the last the title of the peasant emperor."

Little could Alexander III. have thought that the world was so near the time when his son would run the chance of becoming the "last of the emperors of Russia."—Dundee Advertiser.

THE FIREPLACE.

Social Importance of Its Position in the Home.

The center of hospitality in the home is that point about which the family itself gathers most often. This point is in most homes the fireplace; hence its location and construction are of vast importance in building a home.

The fireplace, if there is only one, should be in the living room, for there the family and friends can enjoy it most. It should be located in the center of a wall space, either on one side or at one end of the room. Select the space which will permit the greatest number of people to sit around it.

In the construction of the fireplace you must not forget that its chief purpose is for a fire. The more simple the lines of construction the better taste is displayed and the more room the open fire receives.

There is a great variety of material suitable for a fireplace, and your individuality and taste can be well expressed in this important factor of the home. Brick, tile, wood and many tile substitutes may be used. These offer great possibilities both for good color and design and lend themselves to any style of architecture.—Farm and Fireside.

The Value of Birds.

Without birds successful agriculture would become impossible and the destruction of the greater part of all vegetation would take place. New York state now pays an annual insect tax of $10,000,000, and birds are the chief agents in keeping this tax from increasing yearly. As consumers of weed seed a single species, the tree sparrow, is estimated to consume about 100 tons in New York state each year. The ravages of field mice and other rodents are kept in check by hawks and owls, and the farmer upon whose land a hawk or owl stays is saved upon an average $20 a year by each owl or hawk. The damage done by some few species of birds to growing crops is more than offset by the benefits of their work in destroying insects, rodents and weed seeds.—New York Sun.

The Sea of Space.

The mind cannot comprehend what is meant by the four little words in the expression "the sea of space." If the volume of "space" included within our solar system—which is perhaps but a single grain of planets among hundreds of millions of a similar kind—were occupied by one single globe 5,000,000,000 miles in diameter it would be but as a feather in the marvelous spread of "vacancy" surrounding it. In fact, it has been calculated that in the space occupied by our solar system 2,700,000,000,000,000 globes of the size of our earth could revolve, each at a distance of 500,000 miles from the other, and the whole business would be nothing, for there is no wall to the treasure vault of heaven.—Exchange.

Pay-Less as Well as Pain-less Dentistry That's Protected

No greater evidence of the solid character and good faith of the Painless Parker Dental organization can be found than in the strength of the guarantee given every one of its patients. The hop-skip-and-a-jump tooth-tinkering carpet-bagger couldn't offer any such assurance to his customers, and be justified in that kind of sweeping promise.

There are sixteen Painless Parker dental offices in the United States—three in Oregon, one in Washington, eleven in California, and one in Brooklyn, N. Y. Any individual who has had work done in any one of these offices is entitled to follow-up-work on the operation free of charge, in any of the offices he may care to visit. In other words, if any hidden fault in our dentistry comes to light, every one of our offices is eager to remedy the defect without cost to the patient. On top of that, we urge our patients to call at least once every six months and have the dental work given a thorough examination so that the job may be always kept up in first class shape.

Think what that means to you! Your tooth work furnished you at the lowest possible figure, estimated on the basis of A-No. 1 dentistry. Your work done by specialists, all of whom are, of course, regularly licensed. And, after that, your teeth watched regularly, examination and consultation free, and no charge made for putting old work in good condition.

What value is there in the guarantee of an individual dentist, who promises you, say, a blanket ten-year pledge that his tooth-carpentry will be protected? He may move away, or quit his trade, or die. And then where are you? They make a big hullabaloo about my conducting a dental organization of nation-wide scope, with scores of dentists aiding me in the different cities where I have offices. But it helps a lot when you move from your town to another to discover the Painless Parker office in the new place right ready to see that your choppers are all in good working condition. Think it over.
