Students Hear of Y Work Abroad

Walter Goss, of Portland, Opens Campaign for Y. M. C. A. War Fund at Springfield High.

Walter Goss, of Portland, who is speaking in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. War Fund campaign addressed the students of the local high school Tuesday morning. He told of the work done by the Y. M. C. A. not only in the home training camps but among the soldiers in foreign countries and urged every student to help in the campaign by giving some to aid the movement. He distributed the pledge cards among the students so that they might contribute what they wished.

Included in Springfield high school's territory are the schools at Goshen, Pleasant Hill, Marcola, Wendling, Thurston, and the grade schools of Springfield. William Hill, president of the high school student body together with Ray Alexander and Lynn Grandy started out this morning to visit these different schools and give the students a chance to contribute toward the fund.

Musical Comedy Is Real Novelty

"Watch Your Step" Will Be Attraction at Eugene Theater November 21.

Fascinating, entertaining, catchy and enticing music is what one will hear in "Watch Your Step," Irving Berlin's international syncopated musical success, which will be the attraction at the Eugene theater, Wednesday, Nov. 21.

"Watch Your Step" is a real novelty in latter day musical plays depending largely for its enormous success on its music and dancing and the clever ability of the members of the cast and chorus.

The plot is light and has to do with the reading of a will and a huge sum of money. The inheritance is to go to the man who has not been ensnared by woman and if none such qualify, to the young lady who has not been beguiled by man. There are two candidates and both are led out to see the town and temptations thrown their way. This gives an opportunity for visits to a stage door, to a fox-trot palace, the foyer of an opera house, a box scene in the opera house, a sleeping car and a cabaret show.

Library Board Meets

The library board met at the library Tuesday evening. The regular bills for wood, light, salary, etc. were allowed. The board discussed various plans which they are considering for the future but nothing definite was done.

CLOTHES DO COUNT.

They Don't Make a Man, but They Cover Nine-tenths of Him.

Clothes do make a difference. They shouldn't, of course, for real worth has nothing to do with clothes. But we who meet folk casually must judge very often by appearance. Margaret E. Sangster, Jr., writes in the Christian Herald.

A girl with a blouse on that is fastened by a safety pin instead of a button is very often labeled "stoddy" in our minds, although her character may be beautiful. A man with a week's mud on his shoes is not very likely to be given a responsible position, because it is quite logical to figure out that a man who neglects his shoes will neglect his work too. Perhaps the man, despite his shoes, is a very conscientious worker. But how can the casual observer know?

Many perfect housekeepers may wear flannel wrappers to the breakfast table; but, though their homes may be immaculate and their children wonderfully brought up, if I were a man choosing the woman to trust with my home and children I'd be inclined to search for the woman who looked fresh and crisp and dainty and smiling as she poured my morning coffee.

"Clothes do not make a man." So runs the old adage. But, adds a modern clothing advertisement, "they cover nine-tenths of him!"

BIG INTEREST IN MUSIC.

Educators Now Recognize Its Far-reaching Cultural Value.

An intelligent interest in music of the higher order is everywhere increasing. Well rounded educators have long since recognized the far-reaching cultural value of musical art. There is no complete education without music. That is an outstanding fact in the most enlightened countries of Europe. Music is now coming to be appreciated by all individuals identified with school or college work in America.

Like all spiritual things, harmony has its psychology. More, it has its grammar and its rules of analysis and construction. Melody that stirs the emotions is the unadorned language of the soul. Harmony is intellectual to the last degree, but melody and harmony united contribute to the true and the beautiful as no other educational force does.

Hence it is that all institutions of learning are giving so much attention to the serious study of music, especially theory and composition. Some of the choicest literature published in recent years has been on musical topics. The universities are making a feature of lectures on music more than ever.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

An Oriental Russ.

It was on Aug. 21, 1103, that Abdulnumen Ibn Ali was elected sultan of eastern Africa by the following stratagem: Having trained a parrot and a lion, he assembled the chiefs in his tent and urged upon them the naming of a ruler of their growing empire. In the midst of their deliberations the parrot perched himself upon one of the poles of the tent and pronounced distinctly, "Victory and power to the lot of the Khalif Abdulnumen, commander of the faithful." The lion then made his way through the terrified assembly, licked Abdul's hand and lay down at his feet. Deeply impressed with this wonder and the manifest interference of heaven, the natives unanimously proclaimed him sultan.

Old Wall Street.

Wall street in the days when Washington was the first president of the United States, when Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr were rivals at the bar, was perhaps the most popular and populous thoroughfare in New York. It was so named because it followed the line of the city's first defensive stockade or "wall," and throughout its length were enacted many scenes that are part of the nation's larger history.

Room at the Top.

Little Jennie had been eating very heartily, but she asked for another piece of cake. "Jennie," said her mother, "I don't believe I ought to give it to you. You are about as full as a little girl can possibly be. Another mouthful and you'll surely burst." "But, mamma, my neck's left yet!" said the little girl persuasively.—Exchange.
