ABOUT WAR TAXES

They are upon us. Taxes on letters, taxes on telegrams, taxes on theater tickets, taxes on parlor-car seats, taxes on cigarettes, taxes on pretty nearly everything under the canopy from the movies to railroad fares.

War costs money. This particular war is costing this particular country about forty-two million dollars a day. The government is paying these expenses by issuing Liberty bonds and by levying taxes.

You can dodge buying Liberty Bonds—if your conscience will let you. But you can't dodge taxes. They stick as close as your shadow. Whenever you go, there they are, now jumping in front of you, long and thin, now snuggling close to you, round and flat, but always there. Your shadow may not go to bed with you, but be right there when you get up in the morning. It is the game with taxes.

Your pocketbook is going to feel as though an imp had bored a hole in it to let the dimes run out.

But there is a consolation. These is a mighty consolation. Every penny that goes for taxes goes for the greatest cause to which a people was ever asked to contribute. Every extra cent you paste on letters is a bullet sent whizzing by you into the German trenches. Every cent of tax you pay on your movie ticket or your chocolate milkshake is a blow from the shoulder struck for the freedom of the world. Your dollars were asked to volunteer. Some of them did. Now some more of them are going to be drafted.

You may not like it. You will miss the dear dollars from the family board, no question about that. But whether you like it or not, whether you miss them or not, the dollars are going.

The question now is: Are you going to get your money's worth in freedom and lasting peace for yourself and your children out of this war, or are you going to add to these departing dollars, the still greater sum you will have to pay if Germany wins and the Kaiser calls on America for tribute?

Whether you have bought Liberty Bonds or whether you are only a taxpayer in the war for democracy, you have gone into partnership with the United States Government and the United States Army and Navy.

Every soldier in the trenches, every sailor in the great fleet is your partner in business.

He is on "the road," working for you.

Your job is to advertise the business; to increase the firm's good will; to think, think about the needs of the business; to talk, talk, talk about the righteousness of America's cause; and to work, to work and to WORK, backing up your partner "over there," so that that cause may be triumphant.

You and Uncle Sam are partners. You have invested money with him. You have gone into business with him. It is up to you as well as up to him to make that business a success.—Hermann Hogedorn of The Vigilantes.

THE REAL SACRIFICE

The people of the United States ought to be prepared for eventualities in the present war. No human mind knows how it is going to end. But in the meantime it is the duty of every loyal American to do all he can for the support of the government, its army and navy, and go a man's task in whatever comes to our hands. Those who are compelled to pay an additional tax on account of the war have the least to complain of. It is the people who are sending their husbands and sons to the war who are making the supreme sacrifice.—L. A. Times

GREEK TO FILL "SHOES" OF TURK

Prof. Andreade, Athens, Says Countrymen Cover Region Down to Dardanelles.

WOULD BE BAR TO GERMANS

Hellenic Preponderance in Constantinople and Adrianople Basis for Claim—Principle of Nationality Hitherto Ignored.

Athens.—If the Turk is to leave Europe, as the entente allies have required in their war terms, then there is a well defined belief in the Balkans that two results will occur of high importance to Greece and all Europe:

1. That the Greek inevitably will succeed the Turk throughout Thrace and in the whole region down to the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

2. That a new zone of territory friendly to the entente will thus be stretched horizontally straight across the Balkans as a barrier to the German dream of making the Balkans a German high road to the Orient.

Professor Andreade of the University of Athens, one of the foremost authorities on international affairs relating to the Balkans, holds this view, and in the course of a talk he explained how these two results would naturally come about in the final peace adjustment, by reason of the principle of nationalities now accepted by the entente allies as a basis for territorial readjustment.

Points to Greek Predominance. Professor Andreade, who is a specialist on the extent of Greek citizenship beyond the Greek frontiers—in Macedonia and the other Balkans, in Turkey, Syria and Asia Minor—pointed out the great preponderance of the Greeks in the regions to be evacuated by the Turks if they are to leave Europe.

The whole viceroy, or province of Adramitopoli, extending from the Balkans down to Constantinople, he declared, is as much Greek as it is Turk and with the Turks out he is practically all Greek. "Even Constantinople," he said, "is a Greek city—the largest of Greek cities—with a population of 1,000,000. That gives an idea of the extent of Greek citizenship in all this section down to the straits, which will have to be considered, on the basis of nationality and race, when the Turks leave Europe.

"That is why I say," added Professor Andreade, "that if the Turk is to withdraw, the principle of nationality, which has been the racial condition of a community, will lead to the recognition of Greek predominant influence in that section of Thrace, the principle of nationality has been recognized and violated in the Balkan peninsula and force has prevailed. Austria and Hungary have not respected any of the territory evacuated in recent years by reason that they have not automatically evacuated it. They have not satisfied the principle of nationality. That is why the entente allies were in the Balkans. For people are never satisfied when their race is ignored and they are attached to foreign conquerors by force."

Two Barriers to Germany.

Professor Andreade, referring to the Balkan map, showed how the readjustment of Balkan boundaries, based on nationalities, would interpose two barriers to Germanic expansion toward Asia Minor and the Orient—one, the Greek zone across Thrace, and another, the Serbo-Romanian link of territory which lies as a dam between Hungary and Bulgaria. This Serbo-Romanian link is only fifty miles across, but with Romania getting the Bannat region, to which Professor Andreade says she is entitled by the principle of nationality, this entente link will be 150 miles across.

"And thus entente Europe can accomplish what it chiefly seeks in the Balkans," said Professor Andreade, "friendly entente zones intercepting the natural route of Germanic expansion toward the Orient, and this can be accomplished, not by force, but by the principle of nationality now accepted by the entente powers."

SOLDIERS PRINT OWN NEWS

Pershing's Men Have Their Own Press. Humming Away on the French Front.

Paris.—The rumble of the press is added to the various noises surrounding the American army headquarters in Paris. Soldiers' reading matter is printed on the premises. Soldiers, who in civil life used to know the print shop, are printing pamphlets and other army literature for the fighters. A fully equipped printing office with a flat bed press is doing the work. The first type "set up" told Pershing's men in training how to throw bombs and how to handle them without accident. Army orders and the "latest" from home will follow.

Feeds Robin From His Hand. Milton, Ind.—Levi Crull, who lives near Rushville, placed a box near the eave trough of his house and a robin built its nest in the box. Mr. Crull climbs a step ladder and feeds the mother bird, now taking care of her brood of young birds. He gathers worms and the robin eats them from his hand. She does not appear to have any fear of him.
