TAKE GOOD IN THE ARMY

Men Prominent in College Athletics Reciprocally in the Service.

Boulder, Colo.—University of Colorado athletes will soon find good use for the training they received in school sports here. Word has been received of the arrival "somewhere in France" of two former football stars of the state university, and of two others who were prominent in athletics here.

Elbridge Gerry Chapman, captain of last year's varsity eleven, went to the Fort Riley officers' reserve camp early in the summer and is now a captain in the regular army.

Eddie Evans, who was elected captain of this year's football squad, but who retired from school to seek fame in Uncle Sam's fighting forces, has been made a second lieutenant and letters received here disclose the fact that he is "over there" somewhere.

Hornace P. Wells and Chauncey Bennett, both prominent in athletics at Boulder, have been accepted in the aviation corps and are believed to be "across the pond."

Beat Him to It. "Did you tell your boss that you'd simply have to have a raise? Did you tell him that you were wearing last year's clothes?"

"No; he forestalled me with a long wall about the horrors of having to use a last season's car."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Incurably Ill. "So you say you no longer sleep of nights? Why don't you consult a doctor?"

"It would do no good. It's not in somnula that keeps me awake; it's the baby."—Baltimore American.

The Correct Word. "Old Brown won't live long. He has one foot in the grave already." "You mean one foot in the grave." "No; he's going to be cremated." Boston Transcript.
