Our regard for small details means perfect prescription service.

Prefection in anything is made up of regard for many small details. Our prescription service includes care in every detail that can add to its completeness.

An example will illustrate this: When a prescription is brought to us to be refilled we use a new bottle, label and cork. It goes to you not only attractive in appearance, but in every detail it is precisely as it was at its first compounding.

Carelessness in minor details often leads to more serious neglect-so we tolerate no step in that direction. All prescription work at our store is conducted with skill and care.

Notwithstanding the superior character of our service, prices on prescriptions are always reasonable.
